

'White Clause' in Bylaws Stirs Park Pool Members

Two "incidents" involving the bylaws of Orinda Park, Inc., which restricts members and guests to "white or caucasian race," have come before the board of directors since the opening of the swim season last month. (Ed. note: the redundancy is in the bylaws, not The Sun.) Report of the two cases, latest in a long line of controversy over the "white clause" in Park Pool's bylaws, was substantiated by a board member.

The pool, which is located on El Toynonal, is a private club which has 430 members. There is a waiting list; and memberships are purchased from old members. Many members have voiced their displeasure over the "white clause" and attempted to amend it over the years.

THE LATEST incident involving the restrictive clause concerns an Indian boy whom Mrs. Ann Ryan of Orinda was trying to place in a home here for a few weeks. Under the American Friends Service Committee exchange program, 38 Indian boys from the Fresno area visit this county each summer.

One of the families with whom she talked was the Richard Hales of El Toynonal. Mrs. Hales asked the Orinda Park, Inc., board for approval to bring the Indian boy swimming with her children, should he stay with them.

The board stated that it did not have the power to give approval.

Mrs. Ryan, who is not a member of the pool and takes two Indian boys into her home as summer guests each year, placed the boy in a home in San Leandro.

"THE BOARD has no alternative but to enforce the bylaws, unless or until amended," stated James H. Benney, attorney, president of Orinda Park, Inc.

Mrs. Louise Ruhland, 263 El Toynonal, belongs to the group of pool members who have tried to eliminate the racial restriction clause since 1960. The group is continuing its efforts, she said.

Mrs. Ruhland summarized the stand of her group as follows: "SEVERAL YEARS ago, a group of pool members, with the approval of the Park Pool board, circulated a petition to eliminate the racial restriction for both membership and guest privileges in the pool bylaws.

"At that time, we were unable to secure the signatures of the two-thirds of the members as required by the bylaws. This means that one-third of the members are able to maintain this restrictive clause. We found that most members would have had no hesitation in removing the restriction on guest privileges only; however, at the time, we felt that it was a moral issue that should apply to all restrictions or none.

"THERE HAVE been many embarrassing incidents regarding guests that a person would not ordinarily hear of. One of the first was years ago, when Rev. Fred Morrow, then minister of the Orinda Community Church, brought a Negro friend, also a minister, to the pool, and was turned away, as a result of which Rev. Morrow dropped his membership.

"Until the bylaws are changed the pool board has no choice but to enforce them. The restrictive clause was probably included years ago when, unfortunately, its implications were not seriously considered.

"Since recent events are causing us all to ask what we mean by democracy and Christianity, I hope that in the future the bylaws will be changed to reflect a desire not to judge by so superficial a quality as the color of a man's skin."

THE REV. MORROW is not the only member to drop his membership because of the "white clause." Mrs. Emily Randall, widow of Ben Randall, Mr. and Mrs. Prentiss Combs and David Hackett, are among those who have dropped or refused membership on the basis of the discriminatory clause.

Dr. H. Stewart Kimball, past president of the Orinda Council for Civic Unity, stated that through the years, members have many times "attempted to reform the restrictive covenant." However, he said that it was always "put over."

Charles Wagner, current OCCU president, did not wish to make a statement without conferring with members of the council.

MRS. MAUDE WHITE, vice chairman of the OCCU, stated: "At the time of President Kennedy's plea to the country to overcome our prejudice it seems especially repellent not to welcome a child of American Indian heritage."

"We should take every opportunity to do things in the American way right here in Orinda," said Mrs. White, mother of five. "I want to stand up and be counted. I don't feel that any of the democratic principles which I teach our children have any real meaning unless I set an example in action."

Mrs. Hale stated that although she was against the restrictive clause, "... this is a private pool... privately run..." Everybody "gets along fine," and what happened was "no-body's business."

When The Sun reporter attempted to explain the news value of the incident, Mrs. Hale snapped, "Write whatever garbage you want to"—and hung up.

Classified Pay Up at Schools

A 1 1/2 to 6 per cent increase was granted Monday night for classified personnel of the Orinda Union School District who are below the average range of surrounding district schedules. The board of trustees approved the classified salary schedule recommended by Superintendent Joseph Sheaff.

The classified personnel had asked a 3.5 per cent increase. The matter was postponed at the April 29 meeting in order for the board members to obtain information on what was being done in comparable districts.

The preliminary budget of $1,998,904 was put over for more detailed discussion for the June 24 agenda. At this meeting, the trustees expect to adopt a budget.

CONSIDERATION of a "mid-point" schedule worked out by board member Philip Bush was discussed at length. It took into consideration responsibilities of certain employees.

It would mean a jump of "a few cents" if the tax rate, according to Henry Moeller, assistant superintendent, business services.

In other action, the trustees approved a policy that no certificated employee could be regularly employed by the district if he were related to any employee in the district in an administrative or supervisory capacity.

Superintendent Sheaff felt that the policy should be adopted so that the board would not have to rule on each case.

Teachers Pay Hike Same; Tenure Less in Moraga

Moraga's teachers will get the pay boost which was voted for by the board of trustees May 22. The salary schedule was reconsidered by the trustees "for the benefit of the taxpayers" Tuesday night.

The trustees voted 4-1 to adopt the schedule as originally proposed. Dissenting vote was cast by Rex Collings, Jr., president of the board, who brought the salary schedule up for reconsideration.

saying that he was a teacher (he is a professor at Boalt Hall); and that his father and mother are teachers; and that he believes it to be one of the greatest professions. However, as a taxpayer, he objected to the "inflationary spiral" of teachers' salaries.

He did not think that "little old Moraga" should be one of the leaders in this trend.

Moraga School Budget May Hike Taxes 8¢

Preliminary budget for the Moraga School District is $384,965, according to Superintendent William Knight.

The preliminary budget will be discussed at a meeting of the Moraga school trustees June 26 at Camino Pablo School.

A possible tax increase of eight cents per $100 valuation is seen by Knight. However this is based on current figures and when the new figures for assessed valuation are given by the county at the end of the month, Knight stated that it was possible there would be no increase.

TENURE compensation, which was also reconsidered, was reduced from $275 to $150. Tenure teachers in Orinda receive $240 compensation annually; in Lafayette and Walnut Creek, $100.

HE FELT that the only justification for such raise was "some false pride... or some false feeling that elementary teachers are underpaid."

Board member Fred Sawyer stated that it had taken five drafts and over six months to arrive at the salary schedule. It gave the superintendent a new device to observe and assist the teacher, Sawyer said adding that you couldn't compare Moraga to more established districts "if you wished to make points."

The proposed budget is also based on an average daily attendance increase of 135 in the next school year, which Knight said was a conservative estimate.

Sixty per cent, or $194,800, of the total budget will go toward salaries for classroom teachers. Last year's budget was $278,858. Current expenses are listed at $312,205. There is an increase of $106,000.

The vote on reduction of tenure compensation was 4-1 with board member Robert Amherst casting the negative vote.

The $5100-$9875 salary schedule was suggested for the next two years by Superintendent William Knight. The trustees have not yet voted on whether it will remain until 1965.

Knight read a letter of commendation from the teachers to the board suggesting that a teachers' group work with the board in the fall on the matter of salary schedule.

Bus Turnout To Be Ready July 19

Work which began on the bus turnout at the crossroads will be completed July 19, according to Kenneth Parkhurst, engineer on the job.

The $56,000 job, which will eliminate buses going through the business sector of Orinda, was begun May 29. Work is being done by O. C. Jones Company, Berkeley contractor.

AT THE REQUEST of the Chamber of Commerce, the state division of highways stated that it will grant permission to put up a bus shelter at the turnout.

The chamber is waiting to hear from Jones to whether it is feasible for the company to lay a concrete slab for the shelter.

If so, construction of the shelter project for eastbound bus commuters would be a "community project," according to chamber officials.

The existing shelter, also sponsored by the chamber, is for westbound riders on the opposite side of the freeway.

The Contra Costa Commuters' Association, a long with the chamber, was instrumental in getting the bus turnout.

"Assemblyman John Knox helped us to get this contract," said Thomas Whitten, lawyer and engineer, president of the commuters' association. "We appreciate his help and interest in this needed project."

THE TURNOUT was originally from a plan worked out by Paul Vashell. He knew that the Vashell Plan would become an actuality shortly before his death, May 27.

The turnout will eliminate the congestion of commuters getting on and off the bus at the Casa Orinda. It will also eliminate the buses being delayed at the present signal at Brookwood Road, according to Whitten.

Eastbound traffic only will be affected. The project will include a bus stop, sidewalks and highway lighting.

The short stretch of new road being built will hook to the cloverleaf through the now-landscaped area, to connect to the existing on-ramp to Lafayette.

BUSES WILL GO down to Brookwood Road and make a left turn before the stop light to the eastbound on-ramp.

The present bus shelter will not be moved since it is primarily for westbound traffic. There never has been a shelter for eastbound traffic.

The job had gone out to bid last May. However, the bids exceeded the state's estimate of $54,800 plus 10 per cent.

OTHER IMPROVEMENTS included in the job are in Lafayette, at Upper Happy Valley Road and Reliez Station Road. The Upper Happy Valley Road, by the Lafayette westbound shelter, will have a direct paved walkway to it.

At Reliez Station Road, by the Speedi-Mart, there will be paving where there is now dirt. Presently there is nothing but a concrete curbing.

Boy Critically Hurt in Two-Car Lafayette Crash

Seven persons were hurt in central county traffic accidents, three of them when two cars collided a half mile east of the Caldecott Tunnel.

A Lafayette teen-ager was critically hurt in one of the crashes.

In one accident the Highway Patrol said that a car driven by Erna L. Vilhaver, 44, of Oakland, went into a skid on the wet pavement Monday night and crossed the center line.

She was westbound at the time.

POLICE SAID the other motorist, Milton R. Maline, 45, of 215 Oak Road, Danville, was unable to avoid her car.

Both drivers were hurt as was Maline's wife, Rose, 43. All three were taken to Kaiser Hospital in Walnut Creek.

On Highway 21, south of Redwood Drive near Alamo, Mrs. Katherine L. Albertson, 19, was driving her car when she turned to tend her infant child on the seat beside her, police said.

At that moment her car shot off the highway and into the ditch.

MRS. ALBERSON, who lives at 22 Dawn Drive, Pleasant Hill, suffered minor injuries, but did not go to the hospital Sunday.

Two teen-age boys were hurt in a two-car crash on Moraga Road south of School Street, Lafayette, Monday evening.

Highway patrolmen said one motorist, David A. Cecchini, 17, of 3518 Rowe Place, Lafayette, was northbound on Moraga Road when he saw that the other car was broadside in the street. Cecchini applied the brake but was unable to avoid a collision.

THE DRIVER of the other car was David L. Christensen, 19, of 826 Las Trampas Road, also Lafayette. He and his passenger, John Silva, 17, 1030 Hampton Road, Lafayette, went to Kaiser Hospital. Cecchini was treated by a private doctor, but Christensen was still listed yesterday as in critical condition.

TV Relay Station OK

Pacific and American Telephone Companies was granted permission Wednesday night to build a $285,000 radio and television relay station in the hills above Orinda. The county board of adjustment stated that no objection to the proposal had been received.

The board also agreed to allow a five foot setback for a business building on the west side of Brookside Road, across from Mike Lynn's. R. A. Feichmeier was applicant; M. A. Doolio, owner of the parcel, immediately south of the freeway interchange.

2000 Acre Ranch Annexed to W.C.

The City of Walnut Creek last week was enlarged over 2000 acres by annexation of the historic Dollar Ranch. This paved the way for development of an immense senior citizens' community on the property.

The annexation came after nine months of negotiation with Rossmore Corporation, developers of the Walnut Creek Leisure World, through the firm's vice president, Charles Andrews of Walnut Creek.

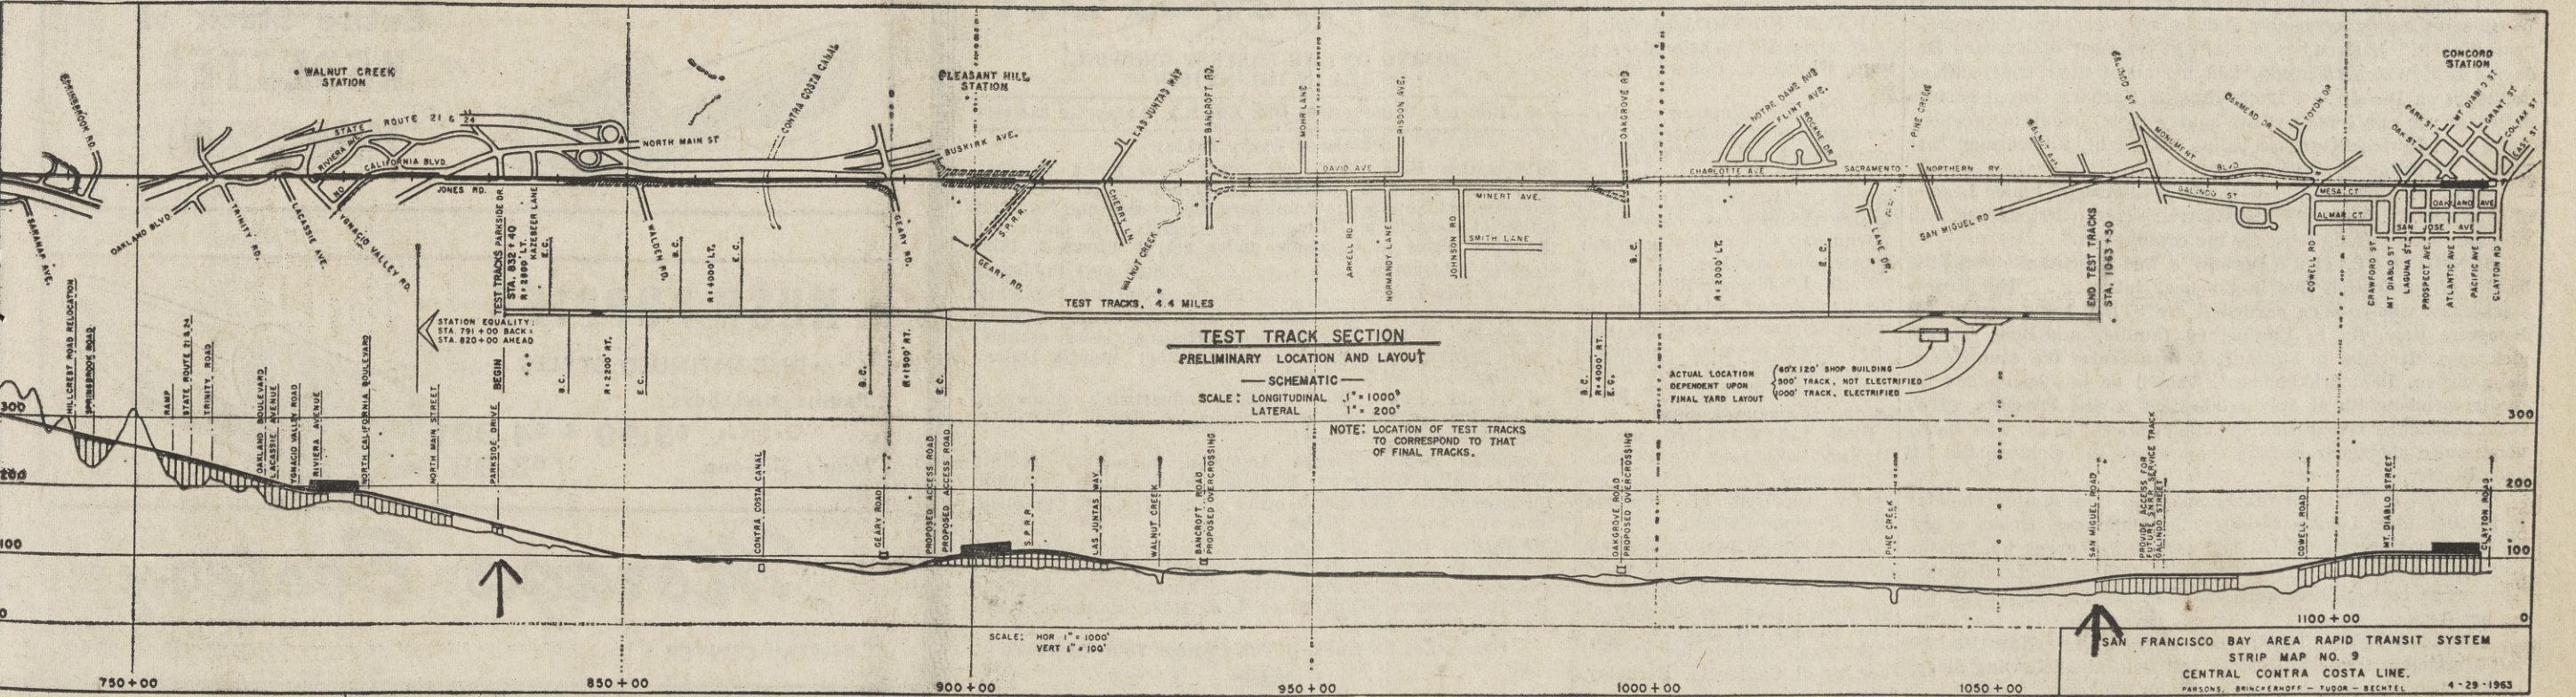

It came after a joint-powers agreement between the city, the county and Rossmore to reconstruct portions of Tice Valley city.

Boulevard at a cost of $363,350—over two-thirds of it borne by Rossmore.

Walnut Creek Chamber of Commerce outlined the following effects on the city:

1. An increase in assessed valuation by $40 million within five years.
2. Addition of 18,000 more inhabitants to the city in the same period of time.
3. A $750,000 boost in the city budget.
4. Over $15 million more dollars in retail sales within the city.

Yours 'til Niagara Falls...

GRADUATION TIME & the past wk. giving the kids their first taste of being footloose & fancy-free (well, almost) for the summer.

Miramonte was out early in the day & for some kids the premature dismissal gave them the same good feeling we used to get from playing Hookey in our Old School Days.

UP AT PARK POOL, Pine Grove's graduating 8th had their traditional picnic last Tue. When the rain came on w/sudden onslaught Mon. nite, Kay Dodge & her Grad Committee held their breaths. If the rain cancelled the picnic, what would they do w/all the paper streamers & butterflies fashioned for the all-day party?

When we dropped in around 3, Decor Chrmn. Sonny Wallace was smiling sunnily as she & Natalie Williams & other Moms started to take down the gay decor. . .

IT WAS A LONG DAY . . . The usual gargantuan meal of hot dogs (no limit) & potato salad was dispensed & there may have been some stomach aches on the morrow as well as sunburn sufferers. The graduating girls were working hard on their tans for the Big Eve which occurs tonight w/lots of fanfare at the high school.

AFTER the commencement ceremonies, the class is whipped back to PG for their all-too-brief dance. It lasts just about an hr. by the time things get going & the parents have stopped milling around. This year the committee is hoping that parents will not loiter so that the short graduating dance can start as soon as possible.

ALL OVER TOWN, the kids have been signing each other's yearbooks . . . but if you look inside the covers, you'll see that the salutations are not the witty ones of yesteryear to be preserved for posterity.

REMEMBER the old timers like: "Yours 'til Niagara Falls" . . . & "If you get to Heaven before I do, Open a cloud & pull me through" . . .

Or "Roses are red, potatoes are tan. Amy's* all wet & so's your Old Man" . . . (*Amy McPherson)

We wish we had a copy of the old autograph books (circa 1872) that Marian Long unearthed in the basement of the old Sullivan Ranch home which they bought. The dainty books, full of charming sentimentality, are scribbled in curly-cue Spencerian script—in the era when there was more time for such pleasures. At any rate, this being Commencement time, the "butterflies" are out in full bloom . . . ditto the gifts, cards & moist cheeks. Boo-hoo. You, too?

Lost & Found Dept. . .

ADD COINCIDENCE: About a yr. ago, 16-yr. old Mike Kersten came upon a ladies' suitcase & its contents strewn along El Toyonal Rd. . . Being a Good Scout (which he is, EAGLE!), he put aside & picked up all the obviously feminine belongings (non-mentionables) as well as a skirt, blouse and a pair of earrings.

When he brought the suitcase home, mother Laurie checked around the neighborhood about the loss . . . Mike reported it to the Firehouse & again proved a good scout when asked by the firemen to describe the contents.

BUSY Laurie, being Mom of 8 moppets, soon kind of forgot about the suitcase & stashed it some place in the house. But last wk. when little Holly was going visiting, Laurie decided that was JUST the suitcase, emptied the valise's contents (including a "nice pr. of earrings") packed Holly's pajamas & toothbrush & set the suitcase on the front porch.

Shortly Caryll De Faria arrived to deposit her tots for a few hrs. safekeeping. At the sight of the familiar bag she gasped very audibly. "My gosh, where DID you get that suitcase?"

OUR VERY HAPPY ENDING: Cameras close in on the smiling De Farias whose suitcase was discovered missing on a return home from a trip last year. The "nice earrings" that Laurie produced for their rightful owner were JADE jobs whose loss ad exec. Walt De Faria had greatly lamented since they were a special gift to his wife. Walt had even gone to Gump's in hopes of duplicating them. But no sale!

Though Mike refused a reward, the De Farias insisted. The still happier ending is that a sizable check to Mike has been generously donated (by him) to sister Diane's nurse's training fund (she's at Highland).

That's some story Real Crazy. Like the one about the time Charlotte Chapple discovered the diamond missing from her ring while working at a rummage sale! She was sick! The place was torn apart searching for the special stone but Char could only imagine that it went home in a bag of old clothes or a vase & possibly down the drain.

Several yrs. later, the road was newly-macadamed in front of the Chapple home . . . Charlotte stopped pre-occupied from her parked car, pondered the ground a minute, suddenly noticed a slight glimmer in the sun & stopped down to inspect. Lo & Ba-hold! There, having survived the steam roller & time, traffic & tide, was the precious "rock" imbedded, but barely, in the black-top.

FINDS AROUND TOWN: A veritable sewing bee at Elite Fabrics—Fran Landwehr, Ricki Sullberg both going over the pattern-books . . . Dee Siefert lighting up w/an "at home" costume idea as she studied the 100 colors in a bolt of plaid silk.

Jeri Clement giving it a Gussie Moran w/a spanking-white tennis costume—"All day on the courts" . . . & Esther Anderson, deeply-tanned & sporting a rakish straw & lattered pants, looking like Mary Martin out of South Pacific. It's that Jamaican influence. Esther & hubby just ret'd from there.

LLOLLOPS & ROSES: Parisian pops for the lickings at Edy's & a flacon of international flags, candy-stemmed. Good for give-away favors . . . GOLD Cupids all over the place at Phair's. The one I liked best is standing on his head. Her head. ???? You never can tell about Cupids. Stupid!

LUSH LONG-stemmed strawberries THAT big at Black's Market . . . & Chris Combs, Barefoot Boy (With Chic) toeing along the street . . . Fran Newman & Holly trudging uphill, but dripping, after a swim-session at Winnie Gilmore's . . . (What can't that W.G. do!)

AT THE PINK DOOR, Park & Recreation Council's Mildred Winslow emerging w/a new hairdo after a bit of enjoyable "roughing it." Mildred, as a stalwart member of Barbara Bayday's Bird Watchers group, told me about their trip camping overnight on Diablo . . . Lucie Hupp & Barbara shared hostess duties so you can imagine how homey their mountain greenery home . . . How brave these ladies, I thought, till learning that several husbands went along, too.

V.I.P.'s . . . Janet Angell is new president of Junior League of Oakland . . . while Wirtabel Harris, veteran Dramateur, will rule the theater group roost for the coming year.

SUNSHINE CENTER'S Dorothy & Ted Rosenthal's own little bundle of sunshine is due in the near future . . . The Ernest Starkmans, who've been parted & are STILL being parted till departure time, fly to Europe, en famille, mid-June. They'll pick up a Mercedes in Stuttgart & then cruise the countries of their choice, Denmark included. They'll be in Copenhagen for the tremendous 4th of July celebration & are brushing up on their knowledge of our U.S. individual states' flags. The Danes know more about our country than we do & celebrate the 4th even livelier.

RAISON D'ETRE for Starkman's trip is a summer holiday to precede their London residency in September. Ernie, a professor of engineering at UC and awarded a grant by Britain, will study and teach at the Imperial College in Londontown. They won't be back here until next January but the postals will be heavy.

AROUND TOWN: The Owen Owensens & Chris Harnetts having a midnight snack at Casa O. last Sun. nite following Sleepy Hollow Association's party at the Frank Walkers. . .

Hats Off To...

Grads and their Folks At Commencement Time

There's no grad like an old grad. So off to Commencement this week. We wouldn't miss a-one we're invited to. Bolstered up with a bit of facial tissue.

IT IS a heart-thumping time—observing Youth in its prime. It is enough to stir even the strongest soul to tearing the tissue to shreds.

THE YOUNG WOMEN are dewy-eyed darlings. Walking regally by. With hair spray on their hair and a blush on their cheeks. There may be a blister on the heel but they'd sooner die than let you know it.

The young men walk with heads held high, caps squared away. Some wink slyly in the direction of their mothers. Others steal a glance at their Best Girls.

Hail to thee, O Alma Mater . . . In the audience, the Kleenex crumples and memories come pouring back.

BROTHERS, LITTLE SISTERS, grandparents and solemn-eyed fathers sit bunched together. They seldom take their eye off THEIR Graduate. After all, it took long enough to locate him. Or her.

You can tell Mom by the fluttering of her new white fancy handkerchief; Kleenex is out on a special occasion like this. Grandmother's too busy bouncing Baby on her lap to think of crying herself.

BUT GRANDPA, well! He is going back, back . . . Boy, those were the Good Old Days! (WHERE did all those years go . . . it seems like only yesterday that he was planning his whole future . . .)

There is something about young faces looking to the future that gets everybody right in the old palpitator.

REMEMBER HOW it felt to be on top of the world?

The trouble with school or college is you don't appreciate it until you're OUT of it.

Then you'd give anything to be back IN.

When you're graduating, oh glorious feeling, you think you know everything.

When you're older, you realize you don't know BEANS & Boy, would you like a chance to give it a go again!

THE GRADS ALL have stars in their eyes. A whole galaxy. "Reach for the stars," they used to tell us. It is still good advice.

If you dream a little & wear rose-colored glasses, well, all the better . . .

Look up . . . and high . . . and for the good. There's a lot more of it than some folks let on. And the bad. Well, you can make it better. The words fall. The message lingers.

THE ORGAN pumps Tannhauser. The heart pounds away. . .

IT'S YOUR WORLD, Grads. Go to it and Good Luck! We're counting on you . . .

and Teachers who Helped Them Earn that Diploma

(Editor's note: This speech was made by Colleen Rohan, graduating vice president of Inland Valley Intermediate School, Orinda. It was given at a recent picnic honoring the I.V. faculty. The Sun reprints it during commencement week as a tribute to all teachers and administrators in the county.)

"A teacher remembers the good students in her mind and the bad students in her heart."

I'm afraid that if this quote is true, all teachers today will agree that their hearts will be packed full of memories.

It's traditional to rebel against school in one way or another and everyone has done it sometime, either outwardly or inwardly. Unfortunately, the teachers are always the fall guys. They have to watch and listen as each of the students rebel. They have to hear all the complaints.

THEY HAVE to know everything from an adverb clause to Article Four of the Constitution, or the reason why atoms carry a valence. They have to be specialists in their fields and many others, for there will always be a student who studies science in math, Spanish in history, and music in reading and literature. After all, who else do you ask but the nearest authority when you have a question, no matter what class you are in?

A teacher's job is said to be very rewarding, but sometimes it must be hard to decide why. All a teacher hears is complaints. No student would hesitate to complain to a teacher about the science drop test or history quiz. Every math teacher has to argue down someone over their "mis-added," and mis-divided average. We're all sure we have a B average and not a B minus.

YES, THE COMPLAINTS are always offered, but how often does a student walk up to his teacher's desk and THANK them for what they have done.

No, most teachers have never witnessed this unheard of crime; most teachers don't hear the compliments, but we want you to know that the compliments ARE THERE. We want you to realize that beneath our scowly exteriors there is a grateful smile. We want to thank you for the work you've done this year.

MOST OF ALL we want to thank you for the extra hours you've added to your day. Without these hours, we wouldn't have a newspaper, yearbook or Christmas play. There would be no orchestra or chorus. Our many clubs such as the Bridge Club and Chess Club would be non-existent. The students sitting here today wouldn't HAVE a student council to belong to, or a Friday night dance to enjoy.

"The idle man does not know what it is to enjoy rest. Hard work, moreover, not only tends to give up rest for the body, but, what is even more important, peace to the mind."

So even though we may complain today and declare all our teachers slave drivers, we know that the future will bring us peace of mind, and it is for this reason, that we are grateful.

Diversified Desmonds

Life with father . . .

Diversified Desmonds . . .

SOUNDS of sewing machine, piano, and typewriter, children's play and good conversation reflect the constant activity of the Desmond family. And the home on upper La Cuesta lined with books and souvenirs of the continent bear evidence of a long and wonderful association with the field of journalism.

ROBERT DESMOND's journalistic career has covered a lot of ground. He is prolific at pounding out paragraphs in print both here and abroad. Chairman of the Department of Journalism at UC for 15 years, he has been a professor on the Berkeley campus, for the past 23 years.

For periods ranging from several months to several years he has served as a staff member of such newspapers as the Milwaukee Journal, the New York Herald Tribune, in Paris; the Christian Science Monitor, in Boston and London; the Louisville Courier-Journal and the New York Times. He has also done magazine and radio news work.

RESIDENT of Orinda since 1951, the Desmonds have been away in Europe on three occasions. In 1955-56, the family lived in Holland when Bob was a Fulbright Lecturer at the University of Amsterdam, and again in 1960-61 in Switzerland, when he was a consultant with the International Press Institute in Zurich.

On other occasions, he has been in Paris on assignments for Unesco and has lectured at the University of Strasbourg, in France. A consultant for the Encyclopedia Americana, he both advises on content and writes sections for those volumes.

During the war he was on leave from the university with the Office of War Information, in New York; and as a major in the Army, in North Africa and the European Theater of Operations.

He won his A.B. at the University of Wisconsin, did graduate work at the University of Minnesota, from which he received an M.A., and at the University of London's School of Economics and Political Science, from which he received a Ph.D.

HER HUSBAND's prowess with the printed word has rubbed off on wife Emily. She has been in charge of production of the informative quarterly bulletin of the Friends of the Orinda Library and has done volunteer library work in the Orinda School library for several years.

A member of the WAC during the war, Emily might have pursued a career as a personnel specialist. She chooses instead to manage her own "personnel" at home with chauffeuring, cooking, gardening and community volunteer work. Besides being a "book-worm" along with the rest of her bunch, she is a skilled seamstress and executes most of her beautiful wardrobe which has earned for her a reputation as a fastidious Fashionable.

A GRADUATE of Washington State University, the likable lady is also trained as a pianist and quick to praise Carolyn and Chris who are both students of the ivories. Carolyn attends Orinda School and Chris is at Pine Grove and both progeny have inherited broad interests from their parents. The chauffeuring by Emily goes from Peanut League games and swimming for Chris, to ballet and Brownies for Carolyn.

The poodles and the feline preside over the domestic scene and, as fully-accredited members of the family, make their views known. Life with father is like that!

Junior Teen Club Slates Dances

A "senior ball all summer long" is in store for dancing teen-agers at Lafayette's Happy Valley Inn junior night club.

Through the summer vacation months, the new junior club will feature Wednesday night dance parties in the re-decorated and parent-approved setting in downtown Lafayette.

JOHNSTON, himself the father of teen-aged daughters, said the mid-summer complaint of "nothing for us to do" has prompted the Wednesday dance schedule.

He has met, in recent weeks, with parent clubs representing several Contra Costa County high schools and said that the junior club's membership program has met with strong approval from parents and educators.

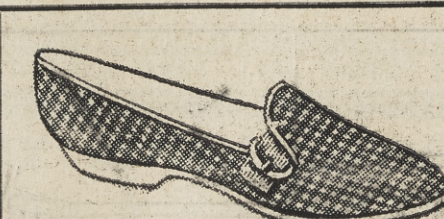

"BY THE TIME school is out and our dance bands and show groups take over for the summer, we expect to have a 'senior ball' atmosphere going every week," Johnston said. "So far the young people have been very responsive. They're fine kids."

Friday and Saturday dancing runs from 8 to midnight. Sunday afternoon dancing is from 1 to 5 p.m.

Slam Scandalous Conditions at 'Juvie Hall'

The pot has been boiling at juvenile hall for several months. This week it boiled over, heated up by two separate blasts from the Contra Costa Grand Jury and the Juvenile Justice Commission.

FROM THE JURY:

"The girls division (is) in a crowded condition and in need of urgent attention."

"The dormitory accommodations are inadequate for the number of girls... and some sleep on mattresses on the floor. Teachers and supervisors are functioning under a difficult handicap in rehabilitating the girls."

"The staff is working under harsh circumstances in their attempts to rehabilitate the girls."

"Slacks and blouses now worn by the girls do not lead to modesty, personal respect or care of clothing. Wherever possible, providing the clothes should be a family responsibility."

FROM THE COMMISSION:

represented before the board of supervisors Tuesday by Mrs. Robert T. Adams:

"The hall continues to have difficulty in filling staff positions and maintaining ideal conditions, due to the overcrowded situation."

"The commission is concerned with the condition that occurs with more than two children to a room. This makes for great difficulty, especially in the evening shifts."

"There is no area where children can function as subgroups on projects or games."

"BATHROOM facilities are inadequate to take care of the number of youngsters presently housed in the hall... Thought must be given to improving the facilities in all sections."

"We are housing too many youngsters in the sleeping rooms."

It does not seem proper to have children sleeping on mattresses on the floor and... many beds in the halls."

"Dining areas are too small to accommodate the number of youngsters usually in the hall."

SUPERVISORIAL REACTION

Tuesday was loud and varied. Supervisor Mel Nielsen called the problem one that "will explode in our face" and suggested hiring of a juvenile delinquency consultant.

Supervisor Edmund Lindscheid claimed that "too often we get only one side of the picture" in reference to the reports and suggested the county hadn't been getting its money's worth despite increased budgets for the hall.

County Administrator J. P. McBrien was directed to investigate the situation and report to the board within four weeks.

Lindscheid indicated that the hall's budget has almost tripled since 1957.

"And it is still horrible over there. I know I wouldn't want one of my children in there," he said.

Scrap Plan 'F'? Meeting Monday

"Everything," said Dr. Frank Bradford mildly last week, "has gone wrong with unification of schools in the Acalanes High School District area."

To straighten things out, Bradford, assistant county superintendent of schools, and the county committee on school district reorganization will meet in county offices in Pleasant Hill Monday.

And there is a distinct chance that Unification Plan "F" won't survive the straightening.

Plan F is a proposal which would divide the Acalanes area into two unified districts.

ONE DISTRICT, in the west, would include Moraga, Canyon and Orinda School Districts plus Miramonte and Campolindo high schools.

To the east, Walnut Creek and Lafayette would merge school districts, utilizing Del Valle, Las Lomas and Acalanes high schools.

The state has required that counties submit unification plans for consideration by September 15 of this year—or be faced with a state-proposed plan. A bill to extend the deadline for plan submission was vetoed Wednesday by Governor Edmund G. Brown.

Plan F was only one of several suggested after a long study by Stanford researchers, and it has always been opposed by the Acalanes High School District.

IT HAD STRONG support, however, from the five local school districts involved.

Strong, that is, until a legal snarl as unbelievable as indescribable gave time for thought.

And heard lengthy objections from Sidney Webb of Orinda.

As Bradford put it last week, "there are some very real problems here the committee should take a look at before proceeding with Plan F."

Legal difficulties, primarily violations of government code which nullified votes and members of the county committee, can be overcome in time to meet the state deadline, Chairman Dr. J. Vaughn Shahbazian told The Sun last week.

BUT HE, TOO, indicated that there are growing reservations about the wisdom of Plan F.

Much discussed in prolonged public hearings early this year and late in 1962 has been Plan "B"—total unification of the entire Acalanes High School District Area.

Acalanes trustees like it; they fear splitting of their educational plant.

Local school boards have opposed it, primarily for fear of loss of control and responsibility.

If the committee scraps Plan F, the round of legally required public hearings and committee meetings will begin all over again.

Air $60 Million Channel Project

Hearing on a $60.9 million ship channel project—called by some the key to Contra Costa's industrial growth—will be held Wednesday, 10 a.m. at Martinez Junior High School.

The U.S. Corps of Engineers will hold the hearing on a report recommending a deeper draft and wider ship channel from the San Francisco Bar at the Golden Gate all the way to Stockton.

Contra Costa, its Carquinez Straits at mid-point in the project, could expect to benefit from an operation which would create a channel 45 feet in depth as far inland as Port Chicago, with widening for maneuvering areas at Oleum Pier, Martinez piers, Pittsburg and Antioch.

IN ADDITION, according to Congressman John F. Baldwin, one of the project's principal backers in Washington, the report shows a harbor feasible at Antioch and the possibility of recreational areas constructed from dredger spoil in the delta between Antioch and Stockton.

Some $47.6 million of the total cost would be borne by the federal government, the Republican congressman noted. He indicated this represented a 2.5-to-one ratio of benefits to cost.

"From an industrial standpoint, Contra Costa County has always been primarily dependent on its waterfront, where its major heavy industries are concentrated," Baldwin said.

HE SAID the ship channel must be deepened for newer deep-draft tankers and bulk cargo vessels if the county is to continue to attract new industry and to expand present facilities.

He urged interested local public bodies to appear at the hearing in order to assure the Corps of Engineers that necessary local funds would be available for acquisition of lands and easements.

"The future growth of Contra Costa County will depend on this decision," the congressman said.

Contra Costa currently has the biggest in-volume sea port in California.

Annex County to East Bay Parks, Says Jury

Annexation of Contra Costa to the East Bay Regional Park District has been conditionally urged by the Contra Costa Grand Jury—with a proposal that a 5-cent county tax levy for a pay-as-you-go park program be undertaken as an interim measure.

"It is the responsibility of the government to provide park facilities for the residents of the county," Taxes and Assessment Committee Chairman Robert Kahn said yesterday.

"IT IS ESSENTIAL that (park) development not be permitted to lag because lands suitable for park and recreation development will... gradually be converted to other uses," he went on.

Kahn reported that meetings with East Bay Regional Park District Manager William Penn Mott Jr.—"a man of national reputation"—and with Duane Mattison, county park director, led to the recommendations.

Mattison has been asked to study the merits of the plan, and the jury recommends an annexation election "at the earliest possible date" following receipt of a favorable response from Mattison.

IN THE MEANTIME, Kahn proposed that the board of supervisors include in the 1963-64 budget an amount equal to 5 cents on the tax rate for the pay-as-you-go park program.

"With," the chairman added, "specific instructions that the expenditure of such funds be fully coordinate with the East Bay Regional Park District."

Services Held For Judge

Funeral services were held Wednesday for Louis J. McKannay, who retired only last month as judge of the Concord Municipal Court. He succumbed to a blood disease.

He was a graduate of the University of California and Hastings Law School and practiced law for 20 years before ascending the municipal court bench. He had also been Concord police judge from 1950 to 1953.

Judge McKannay was widely known in the Concord area and served with many civic and service organizations. His wife, Barbara, and a daughter, Pat, survive him.

He was a former president of the Central Contra Costa County Bar Association.

County Gets Gas Tax Back

Highway users taxes in the amount of $162,000 have been apportioned to Contra Costa County as its share of the May distribution. State Controller Alan Craunton has announced.

Pleas of Guilt Entered in Big Oil Swindle Case

District Attorney John A. Nejedly announced yesterday that Thomas Cleary, whose oil activities were the object of a two-year investigation, has pleaded guilty to 15 felony charges of selling securities without a license, of supplying false and misleading promotional material to investors and of grand theft.

Cleary, 50, Diablo, first came to the attention of local authorities when two investors in his West Virginia oil venture known as the Appalachian Mid-Continent Oil Producers Incorporated, became suspicious and reported their suspicion to District Attorney Nejedly.

From this beginning, the investigation grew to include contact with 45 investors and a total investment of over $400,000 and the cooperation of state and federal agencies in California, West Virginia, Ohio and Washington, D.C.

THE ESSENCE of Cleary's scheme was to lease some 3000 acres of land in West Virginia at approximately cost to him of $5000. The acreage according to his geological information might be worth a test well if the cost was not too great.

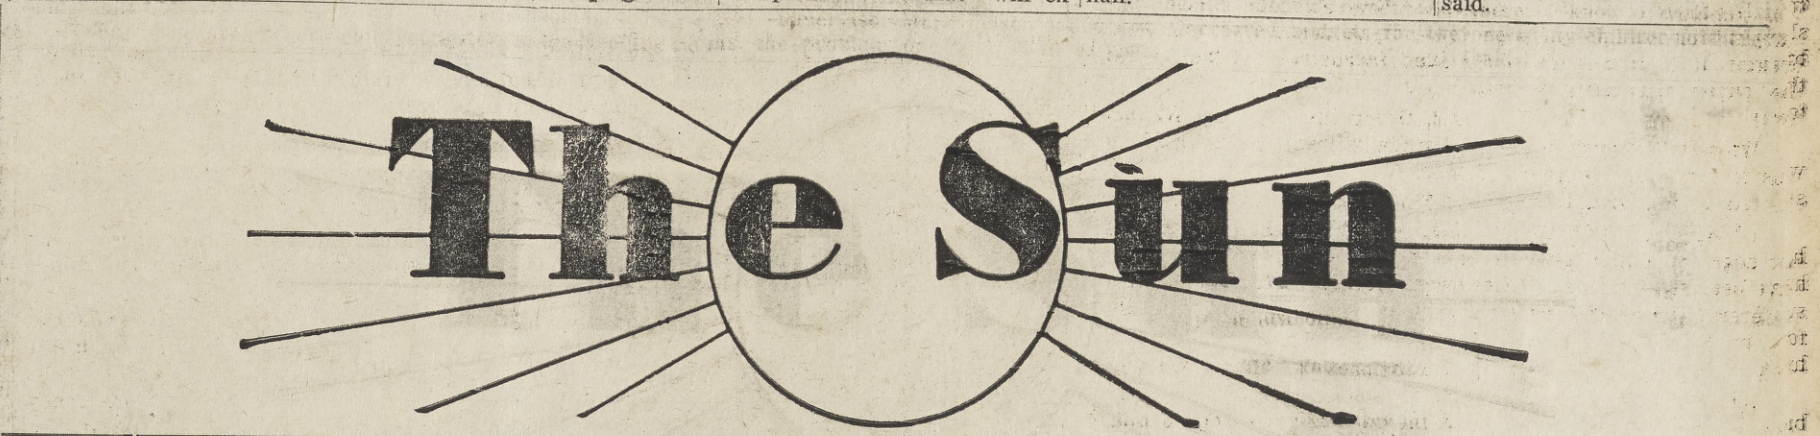

However, his promotional brochure described the area as probably producing 125,000 to 200,000 barrels of oil per well. Government figures on the other hand show that wells in that section of West Virginia, if successful, could not be hoped to produce more than an average of 15,000 to 20,000 barrels.

4.4 Miles of Transit 'Labs' Underway by September

BASIC STRUCTURE OF STATION LIKE THIS WILL BE BUILT IN PLEASANT HILL

$7.3 Million Investment Between WC and Concord

By WALT WRIGHT

An international center of rapid transit tests and techniques will form in Contra Costa during the next several months around a 4.4-mile test track between Parkside Drive in Walnut Creek and San Miguel Road, Concord.

The track, to be located on, above and under the Sacramento Northern Railroad right of way for its entire distance, will include:

Four and four-tenths miles of the electrified test track itself.

Basic structure of the Pleasant Hill station just off Buskirk Avenue at the intersection of Southern Pacific and SNRR tracks.

Transit underpasses at Geary, Bancroft and Oak Grove Roads.

A SHOP area near San Miguel Road on Concord industrial land which will probably expand to a five-acre yard capable of holding 100-125 cars during full-time operations.

The yard itself will hold turn-around and switching facilities about 500 feet of electrified spur track, 1000 feet of non-electrified storage and inspection track.

In addition, a 60-by-120-foot building will house an inspection and repair track, overhead crane, machine repair shop and electrical shop, train control supervisory center and offices for 20 personnel.

Space will be made available for individual representatives of several national firms to test equipment on the facility.

LOCATION of the test facility (the central county was vying with southern Alameda for it) was firmly up Monday when transit directors formally applied for a $4.8 million mass transportation demonstration grant from the Housing and Home Finance Agency.

Officials working with federal representatives in the last several weeks have little doubt the funds will be available within weeks.

The district will contribute $2.4 million to a total cost of $7.3 million for the project, which will begin July 1 and continue for four years here.

FIRST PHASE of construction, to begin in September, will be of about 2.5 miles of on-grade double track between San Miguel Road and a point just northeast of the Pleasant Hill station.

D. W. Halligan, equipment engineer and consultant for the project, said much of the construction work could be done by small local contractors.

At peak of construction, the project will involve about 120 men.

RESPONSE to location of the facility here has been enthusiastic.

Typical were statements to The Sun from Walnut Creek City Manager L. A. Kimball and Walnut Creek Area Chamber of Commerce Manager William Francis.

"Of course we will welcome all visitors to the area and do everything possible to make the

FORECAST

The first week of summer vacation should provide Contra Costans with ideal summer weather, according to the United States Weather Bureau.

The weatherman predicts: Fair today except for high fog near the Carquinez Straits in the morning.

Temperatures are about normal for the season. Westerly winds in the afternoons will be about 10-20 miles per hour.

Budget Cut, Time Lost for Transit

One harsh note in transit developments made official yesterday by Bay Area Rapid Transit District directors was an apparent cut in budget figures by some $15 million.

Preliminary estimates, based on revaluations of earlier estimates, called for $50 million rather than the $35 million which will be spent in fiscal 1963-64.

"Transit directors yesterday approved project commitments with co-venturing engineers and advanced funds to the State of California for re-engineering of the Grove Shafter Freeway for the first six months of the fiscal year—a figure totaling just over $6 million."

TRANSIT OFFICIALS said only that the big slash was "related to the district's problems of anticipation bond sales." In effect, the delay caused by the recent taxpayers' suit and the possibility of an appeal in that suit made it impossible for BARTD to raise more than $6 million immediately.

It was indicated, however, that bond sales would be made in December of this year, by which time any appeal of the suit would be out of the courts, and that the budget for the balance of the fiscal year might be beefed up at that point.

BUT, SAID one Sun source, "you can only spend money—and do the work—so fast. Quite frankly, we've lost some time."

There was still hope at transit headquarters that the lost time would not affect service to Contra Costa "by 1968"—which means December of 1968 or January of 1969.

Chief Engineer K. M. Hoover said the timetable for outlying areas was based primarily on financial considerations and implied it was too far distant to be affected by today's delays.

IN ADDITION to development of a test track between Walnut Creek and Pleasant Hill, the central county area is affected in that scheduling as follows:

Route location work will begin July 1 at the Orinda station location, and between the Pleasant Hill station and the Concord

The same work, plus detailed engineering and design, will also begin for the 17,000-foot Berkeley-Orinda transit tunnel. Engineers hope to introduce yet undeveloped boring machines to speed the project, over four times as long as the Caldecott tunnels.

CONSPICUOUS by its absence from route location work to begin immediately is the entire section between the Orinda station and the Pleasant Hill station.

Spokesmen said much of the right of way, particularly along the freeway, was no problem. "But we will have to do considerable more work on the location of a downtown station in Lafayette," he said.

Construction timetables for the central county area are:

BERKELEY HILLS tunnel: Cost, $41.5 million; design, next month through September of next year; construction, September, 1964, to January, 1969; opening date for the Oakland-Concord line.

The Sun Wins Garden Page Merit Award

The Sun was one of 14 newspapers picked for Garden Page merit awards by the California Association of Nurserymen.

The award was presented to The Sun at a dinner meeting of the association's central chapter (Alameda and Contra Costa Counties) Tuesday night at the Galette in Alameda.

The Sun was one of two newspapers so honored in the central chapter area.

Judges picked the top garden pages at the association's state convention in Sacramento last October.

There are 503 newspapers eligible for the garden page award.

Leo Dupnick, president of the chapter, presented the award to George Colburn, The Sun's associate editor.

A Santa Cruz newspaper won the top award in The Sun's category—newspapers of less than 50,000 circulation.

Gambler 'Bones' Remmer is Dead

One of the nation's biggest gamblers, Elmer (Bones) Remmer, died Tuesday night in an Alameda hospital. He was 65. A former Orinda resident, Remmer had gambling operations throughout the Bay Area, including Contra Costa. In the early 1950's he tackled The Sun for its anti-gambling crusades in the central county. The portly gambler was paroled two years ago from the Federal prison at Terminal Island, where he had served two-and-a-half years of a five-year term for income tax evasion.

Art Award at Assembly Surprises Diane Moss

To spur youthful interest in art, the annual Orinda Art Center award to a graduating Miramonte senior was presented to Diane Moss on Thursday, as a surprise feature of the regularly scheduled awards assembly at Miramonte High School in Orinda.

Daughter of Lt. Comdr. and Mrs. Robert A. Moss of 16 Beaconsfield Court, Diane was cited for outstanding contribution in the arts, on the recommendation of advanced art instructor John Mack of the Miramonte teaching staff.

WINNING HER first art award at the age of six, when she designed a wallpaper completely covered with horses, in a contest sponsored by a national bread company, Diane has contributed to many local art shows, among them the Contra Costa County Pageant of Arts, the District Art Show at Capwell's in Walnut Creek, the 1962 County Art Show in the Broadway shopping area.

According to Mack, she is proficient in all artistic media, but presently is especially interested in oil portrait work. She has participated widely in school activities, drawing for the year book and other school publications. She played the Egyptian queen in George Bernard Shaw's "Caesar and Cleopatra," this year's senior play at Miramonte.

Diane has sung in the church choir at the Orinda Methodist Church, and was commentator for the Diana fashion show at the Claremont Hotel in Berkeley, as well as serving as social secretary for the Diana's, a high school girls' club.

She will attend San Jose State College in the fall, her current plans for a career being in art education.

GOOD BYE FROM BOLMANS

Editor: After 15 wonderful years in Orinda the Bolman family is moving to 1055 California Street in San Francisco.

Since our arrival from Pasadena, our oldest daughter Gay graduated from UC, Berkeley, and now lives with her husband Lefty Stern and out three grandchildren in Seattle, while Sylvia, a graduate of Miramonte High School, has just completed her junior year at UC, will be in Europe this summer and return to Berkeley in the fall to complete her senior year.

Edith, who with your cooperation, provided funds for the Children's Hospital by writing the weekly column "About Our Happy Country Folk" for several years hates to leave Orinda as I do.

However, as you know, my office was moved from Oakland to headquarters at 400 California Street in San Francisco so I can walk to work and ride the cable car home.

To you and our other friends in Orinda we extend our heartfelt thanks for making our residence in Orinda such a happy one.

Cordially,
ROBERT BOLMAN

Moraga Memo

Valley Vacation Looms Long

By YVONNE MAUZEY
376-4083

GRADUATION DAY has come and passed, also the gala picnics, the All Night and the Senior Prom, and the girls in their pastel clouds and the boys in their sport coats and ties, have all turned back to pumpkins. Just like Cinderella. School is out leaving many to ponder on what to do now. Leaving graduates to decide what job to pursue, or what college to enter come September.

Today is Flag Day and Fourth of July coming up, and there are many other days to fly a flag. So the women of the Republican Women's Club are selling 3x5 flags with jointed poles and brackets at a non-profit cost of $4. They want all people to show their patriotism by flying their flags on all appropriate days. For delivery in the Moraga area only, call Mmes. H. C. Bates, 376-5086; Rich Workinger, 376-5712; or Robert Spencer, 376-4261. If you live out of the area you may phone order and pick up your flag at the above ladies' respective homes.

SUMMER SCHOOL sign-up is now at 306 students, states Principal Robert Trask. There is still time to sign up for summer school if you have not already done so. Summer school this year will be held at the Camino Pablo School. The small children will have the new tunnel and climbing area and jumping into sawdust pits in place of the swings and slides.

Teaching this summer will be Mrs. Gish, regular fifth grade teacher who will teach enrichment reading; Mrs. Cluff, regular third grade, who will teach typing; Mrs. Galliday and Mrs. Blonski, second grade teachers. Mrs. Blonski will teach for the summer only; Gene Witt of the Orinda School District will teach summer math; Ruth Freitas, remedial reading; Mrs. Kennedy, third grade; Mrs. Holzinger, music; Pat Freitas, P.E.; Mr. Procter of the W.C. School District, arts and crafts; Mr. Chiavine, also of W.C., will teach the science classes.

The principals are in the throes of closing schools and planning the opening for next September. Both of our principals will be taking summer classes. Mr. Trask is taking courses in supervision and curriculum at the University of California.

Dr. Brown, the schools' science consultant for the past two years, has left to take a post at Indiana University where he will eventually become head of one of the departments. His job was completed here this year.

Senior students next year will have six classes with a different teacher for each subject and will later in the year have their own lockers, according to C.P. Principal Charles Toll.

CONGRATULATIONS to our esteemed neighbor Dick Grogow who has had a top spot in the upper echelon of the White House stores for some time, and has recently been promoted to V.P.

We are losing another member of our community. Peg and Chuck Hunter will be leaving soon. In fact, Chuck has gone and will return only to pick up Peg and his five offspring for moving day to the East.

Marge DeJohn had a farewell coffee for Peg at her home on Ross Dr. yesterday with many of the neighbors attending.

THE BILL HOVEYS had 20 guests in to a no host barbecue dinner with steaks and pot-luck dinner for members of the Moraga Valley Presbyterian Church. Members of our community to attend included the Kelleys, Mohrmanns, Dyes, Doves, Hoveys and Dr. and Mrs. White, of course. The group barbecued on the patio, but were driven in by the weather, for dessert and chit-chat. A swim at the pool was on the schedule but the weather took care of this item also. The group had a good time with eating and general conversation and at departure time, beautiful weather worthy of eating out and swimming, though too late now!

Retired Dr. — Work, Work

For a person who's supposed to be retired, 78-year-old Dr. Walter Alvarez, famed medical writer, doesn't know what the word means.

He was in Lafayette recently to visit his son, Robert Alvarez, new owner of the Reliez Valley Country Club.

"I guess you might say that I'm one of the busiest retired men you'll ever meet," the doctor said with an impish grin.

FOR INSTANCE, HE:

1. Writes a daily medical column that is syndicated in 80 newspapers in this country and 20 others in foreign countries.

2. Edits "Geriatrics Journal" and serves as editor emeritus of "Modern Medicine."

3. Lectures and makes radio and television appearances.

4. Writes at least one book a year.

"I'VE BEEN working on my autobiography," Dr. Alvarez said. "That's been going on for almost 12 years. But, alas, it is now ready for publication and should be out in October."

The medical writer was born in San Francisco but raised in the Hawaiian Islands.

However, he received his medical degree from Stanford University and was intern in San Francisco County Hospital when the great earthquake struck in 1906.

"WE WERE quite busy putting out the fires so that the hospital wouldn't get caught on fire," the physician said.

Asked about his knowledge of the Central Contra Costa County area, Dr. Alvarez smiled as he recalled, "Quite a bit. In fact I remember hiking from Berkeley to Walnut Creek way back in 1901. Our trail was only a buggy track. Quite a difference from the freeway I followed today to reach my son's country club."

WITTY AND sporting a great deal of charm, Dr. Alvarez said that he receives some 120,000 letters a year, all from persons seeking medical advice. "I can't answer all of them naturally," he said, "but I try to get them to get proper medical help."

DR. ALVAREZ now lives in Chicago but he readily admitted if that city wasn't in the core of all his activities he'd move back to Northern California "in a minute."

Glancing across the golf course of the Reliez Valley Country Club, the famous medical writer commented, "The sport's a good one for exercise."

"That's the trouble. Too many people spend their time sitting down."

"ONE OF THE best exercises is walking. It keeps the body chemistry going at a good rate and is an insurance against heart and lung ailments."

After the interview, Dr. Alvarez and his wife bade their son goodbye and started their return "pleasure trip" to Chicago where the medical writer can continue his hectic round of "retirement."

Edward Owen Earns Degree At Harvey Mudd

Edward A. Owen of Orinda was among 33 candidates to receive his bachelor of science degree at Harvey Mudd College, which held its fifth commencement exercises Monday at 10:15 a.m. in Kingston Hall patio. He is the first Orindan to attend the college of science and engineering at Claremont.

Edward is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Owen, 30 Rio Vista, Orinda, residents for 11 years. Edward will receive a B.S. degree in the field of nuclear science.

He is a graduate of Miramonte High School, where he was the top math student of the year in 1959.

Owen's campus activities include: pep band; college Christian leadership group; class '61 president; engineering society; sponsor, 1961-62; senior class vice president, 1962-63; senior executive committee; honorable mention, National Science Foundation 1963.

Owen received an assistantship to Case Institute of Technology for this coming academic year.

He also received offers of scholarships from Stanford, Massachusetts Institute of Technology, and Cal Tech.

He will work this summer at Ames Research Center, Moffett Field, before going to Ohio.

Harvey Mudd had one winner of a 1963-64 Atomic Energy Commission graduate fellowship, and Ed was named alternate.

Edward has two sisters: Ruth Owen, a 1962 Miramonte graduate now at San Francisco State College; and Barbara, a 1955 Acalanes Hills School graduate, now Mrs. Larry Bryan of Houston, Texas.

County Fair to Stay in Antioch

The possibility of moving the county fair to the Walnut Creek-Concord area never really got off the ground at meetings between the county's state legislators and fair directors this weekend.

It was reported that Senator George Miller Jr. and Assemblymen Jerome Waldie and John Knox assured directors the fair would remain in Antioch.

At the same time, Miller told a reporter that amendment of his bill—designed primarily to increase emphasis of the cultural rather than the agricultural—could come before the end of the session.

While newspaper reports hinted that the senator had a substantial plan in mind, Miller himself did not expand on his remark.

And a spokesman for the senator in Sacramento told The Sun early this week that Miller wasn't sure what might be done to the bill.

Meetings between Miller and the two county assemblymen would precede any changes in the legislation which now provides only to change the name of the 23rd Agricultural District Association to the Contra Costa Arts Center.

At the meeting this weekend, fair directors and legislators agreed on the desirability of increased emphasis on the arts and crafts.

But, one observer said, the proposal to move the fair to a more central position was not seriously or extensively discussed.

Baldwin Says Business To Blame in 'Sit-Ins'

Congressman John F. Baldwin recently joined with more than 20 other Republican members of the House of Representatives in introducing a "broad" civil rights bill in the House of Representatives, where he represents Contra Costa.

This bill would give the Attorney General, as well as individuals, authority to take legal action against any owner or operator of a business supplying accommodations, amusement, food or services to the public, if such business is authorized to operate by a state or local subdivision, where the business segregates or otherwise discriminates against customers because of race or color, Baldwin said.

A legal suit may also be brought against any state or local official who seeks to require or encourage segregation or discrimination.

The proposed legislation also contains the so-called Title III provision which was passed by the House of Representatives during the Eisenhower Administration, but failed of enactment in the Senate.

Title III grants to the Attorney General authority to institute legal proceedings against state or local officials who are depriving or denying individuals' rights to equal protection of the law because of race, creed, color or national origin.

Baldwin said that he felt the enactment of this Civil Rights Bill was urgently needed.

"Both political parties have introduced strong civil rights proposals in their party platforms."

"The various sit-in demonstrations which have occurred recently in southern states have occurred because places of business have discriminated against United States on the grounds of race," Baldwin said.

He maintained all United States citizens regardless of race, creed, color or national origin should be able to use public parks, public transportation and other public facilities, and should be able to attend theaters and restaurants, and should be able to obtain accommodations in hotels and motels on an equal basis.

Tank Ordinance Changes Asked

The county board of supervisors will hold a public hearing at 11 a.m., July 2, relative to proposed changes to the ordinance governing the installation of septic tanks.

One big proposal suggested by a special committee is that lots should be upgraded in size from 10,000 to 20,000 square feet where septic tank installations are contemplated. In the case of both a well and tank, a full acre would be required.

A report on the suggested changes was made to the board of supervisors on Tuesday by Dr. H. L. Blum, county health officer.

Insofar as the lot size is concerned, Dr. Blum said any new ordinance might allow the health officer to make modifications from the suggested sizes—that is, if public health was adequately protected.

Classes will start at 9:30 a.m. and continue to noon.

The school's theme is "Living and Working Together As Christians."

Instructional TV Gets Okay in Lafayette

The path was pretty much cleared recently for instructional television to be offered in some Lafayette schools during the next school year.

"We'd like to have ITV in all 10 schools but right now it's hard to say just how many schools we'll start with," Dr. Francis Ebert, superintendent of schools, told The Sun.

At the Monday meeting, members of the school district board are slated to study a contract drawn up by the district attorney's office.

IT CALLS for Glen Pensinger and his instructional television center at San Jose State College to serve as consultant for the establishment of ITV here.

In other action relative to ITV, the board of trustees agreed it would be all right for the local district to sell $100,000 in bonds, and hire a television technician.

Dr. Ebert told the board that in the proposed 1963-64 budget there's $800,000 already set aside for the technician's services. The technician, in addition to maintaining and repairing monitoring sets, would also help with TV production work and camera control.

THE SUPERINTENDENT said that the district already has bond funds available for its use.

For instance, the district now has a half million dollars in authorized but unsold bonds.

"I estimate that our overall ITV program will cost about $150,000," Dr. Ebert said. "Half of that amount probably will be used over the next two to three years."

The superintendent estimated that $60,000 of the first phase $100,000 bond money would be used to purchase TV equipment, facilities to house the equipment and a temporary studio.

BOARD member J. Richard Johnston asked, "Is there any danger of our extending ourselves?"

"The only uneasiness I have is that we already have half a million dollars of authorized but unsold bonds," Dr. Ebert assured him.

"The $350,000 we'll have left over will build a first phase school like Ellis."

When the destination is desirable, expectation speeds our progress.

Police Seek Stolen Auto

The search continues for a rented car apparently stolen in Walnut Creek Saturday afternoon.

Burton F. Barrows, 556 Miner Road, Orinda, told Walnut Creek Police he had parked and locked a car rented from a San Francisco leasing firm at 1517 Second Avenue.

Both the doors of the car and the ignition were locked, Barrows said.

Police have a search bulletin out on the vehicle, a 1962 Falcon Ranchero, and report the case pending.

LE GRAND IDEA—Wonder what's going to happen to Alcatraz now that the cons have left? Well, a Lafayette man is not just speculating on what might happen, he's attempting to do something about it. Bernard Cassidy wants to put up a statue of Saint Francis of Assisi, the city's namesake and patron, as a sort of Statue of Liberty with dimensions of Seattle's Space Needle or the Eiffel Tower.

An amateur artist, Cassidy drew up a Christmas card last year showing his idea. President Kennedy and Mayor Christopher are just two of the whole line of government officials who have been exposed to the idea.

Cassidy's plan for the 600-foot-high statue on the present island site is too costly for the federal government to consider at the present time, Secretary of the Interior Udall has written. But he noted that the plan certainly has merit.

Cassidy feels that with the federal government paying some of the cost along with the state of California, city and county of San Francisco, and Bay Area counties, the cost would not be too much for any one agency to bear. And, he feels it will be self supporting (if his plans are used) in a short time and the government agencies can be paid back.

The St. Francis would be twice the size of the Statue of Liberty and would be equipped with elevators so visitors could ride up the outstretched arms and see the sights. There would be a revolving restaurant a la Space Needle at the base and other concessions, some of a religious nature, according to Cassidy.

There would also be a yacht harbor at the base. The combination of elevator fees and concession profits would pay for the statue, Cassidy says.

Cassidy's grandest idea for the statue is a great new bridge that would carry traffic and rapid transit to Marin County and the Eastshore Freeway. The bridge would cut through or alongside of Alcatraz, then on to Angel Island and thence to Tiburon. It would also connect with the Eastshore Freeway, thus diverting some traffic off the Bay Bridge.

Cassidy points out that it is a fact a new bridge to Marin will be needed and eventually rapid transit will be needed to the same area. His bridge idea would take care of both.

Just last week Stephan C. Leonoudakis, a director of the Golden Gate Bridge District, was quoted as saying "Another bridge from San Francisco to Marin County is an absolute necessity."

Statistics prove that the GG bridge is rapidly approaching saturation.

In effect, Leonoudakis has a route idea similar to Cassidy's—without St. Francis. He suggests getting traffic to sidestep the clogged route from downtown to the Golden Gate Bridge. He suggests a bridge that would take off across the bay at about Kearny Street, touch the eastern edge of Angel Island and run into Marin at the extreme eastern side of the Tiburon Peninsula.

Another advantage, the attorney states, is an easy connection with the Richmond-San Rafael Bridge.

Cassidy comments that he's disillusioned with car travel. He moved to Lafayette shortly after the trains were halted and he's been forced to be a commuter.

The grand plan of Mr. Cassidy is known to many federal, state and San Francisco politicians.

If this were the dynamic 20's, William Randolph Hearst or someone of similar scope would probably take the idea to heart and build a St. Francis if Cassidy suggested it.

In this day and age, Mr. Cassidy has a tough fight ahead of him as plans are being laid to set up a decision-making body to settle the fate of Alcatraz Island.

VOLSTEAD ACT REVISITED—Wes Ellis, speaking for a group of Pleasant Hill merchants who are opposing the concrete dividers planned for Contra Costa Boulevard, told Pleasant Hill City councilmen that more than 200 citations for crossing the double line have been issued by police since the lines were put in recently.

"People are well aware that crossing a double line is a violation," said Ellis. "But they are against it to the point where they'll violate it right or wrong, the way the prohibition amendment was violated."

VOTES FOR BARRY?—With typical liberality, local conservatives backing Goldwater here have illegally plastered Walnut Creek utility poles with "Goldwater in '64" signs.

True conservatives were furious, terming the attractively bronzed senator from Arizona "pink."

But the area's wild-eyed left-wingers were somewhat calmer, most of them posing the question, "Goldwater for what?"

Board Of Supervisors

Contra Costa County Board of Supervisors took the following action at their Tuesday meeting:

ELECTION PROCEDURES—Accepted a report from J. P. McEwen, county administrator, on the streamlining of election and registration procedures and referred it to the administration and finance committee.

HIRING OF STUDENTS—Agreed to temporary hiring of 2 college students during July and August to contact dog owners who have not obtained dog licenses for 1963.

TRAVEL AUTHORIZATION—Agreed to send Deputy District Attorney Samuel H. Mesnick to attend a seminar at U.C. for five days at county expense.

JUVENILE HALL—Added $5498 to budget for operating costs for foods and supplies.

Also heard report from Mrs. Robert T. Adams of Juvenile Hall. Recommendations of commission included the need for a plan to take care of rise in hall's population and for an improvement of sanitary conditions and overcrowded sleeping conditions.

Supervisor Ed Linscheid presented figures that showed sharp rise in hall budget and a not-so-sharp rise in hall populations in recent years. He said "the job was not getting done."

Supervisor Mel Nielsen asked county administrator for a report in four weeks on the consolidation of purchasing and storing food for hall, county jail and county hospital. Nielsen felt savings could be made in this area.

LAS TRAMPAS CREEK—Agreed to allocate $12,500 toward work plan and engineering study. This is one-half needed for plan. The state will be asked to allocate the rest. Flood control district needs plan in order to request federal funds for project, which is expected to cost close to $4 million. Vote was 3-2.

Nielsen, Tom Coll and Joe Silva in favor.

CORONER—Added $4363 on administrator's recommendation for increased costs.

DISTRICT ATTORNEY—Added $5040 to budget for professional increase of costs for services supplied to California Highway Patrol (drunk lab tests).

STORM PROJECT—Received low bid of $56,363.20 for Project 35-1012 in the Contra Costa Storm Drainage District Zone 10. Bids will be reviewed and report made to supervisors next week by district engineer.

WILLOW PASS ROAD—Agreed to spend not in excess of $25,000 to widen 800 feet of Willow Pass Road into a four-lane section under joint agreement powers with City of Concord.

SUMMER JOBS—Heard a report by John Longacre of Danville asking that the county increase number of jobs offered to youth by county. Supervisors Coll and Silva agreed to look into suggestion with public works officials. County now offers 37 summer jobs for youths. Longacre said he was doing nothing else this summer but trying to find jobs for youngsters in this county. He was commended by Supervisor Coll for his ideas on the subject.

Hospital Begun; Campaign Goes On

Big bronzed and brawny men urging "cats" over the crumbling surface of a hill.

A passel of petite and lovely ladies selling parti-colored helium-filled balloons in Walnut Creek.

They've got a lot in common. Between the two groups of them—and many others as well—Contra Costa is building its newest community hospital.

An imposing structure to rise seven stories high on a hill in Walnut Creek's Ygnacio Valley, the John Muir Memorial Hospital will serve many of the one in every eight persons throughout central Contra Costa who require hospital care each year.

ABOUT ONE-TENTH of the $4,100,000 which will create the 150-bed facility has come from community donations.

Some $2.5 million of the cost will be borne by federal and state grants, with the balance obtained through bank loans.

But while the men on the caterpillar tractors are cutting the way for foundations, the ladies with the balloons are one of many groups—and individuals—seeking to raise an additional $100,000 of community support for equipment in the new facility.

THE LADIES—you'll find them today and tomorrow at Simon's Parking Lot, Lucky Store and Broadway and Newell Avenue in Walnut Creek—can tell you the John Muir Hospital story.

Members of the John Muir Memorial Hospital Auxiliary, they've been with it for some time.

They can explain how—and SHORT STREET, DANVILLE—Continued hearing on proposed abandonment until July 23, 10 a.m.

SENIOR CITIZENS—Referred a survey made by the housing authority with reference to number of inadequately housed senior citizens to Supervisors Linscheid and Nielsen for a report at a later date.

DRUNK ORDINANCE—Agreed to request by District Attorney John Nejdely for an ordinance to control problem of drunks on private property. Previous state ordinance no longer good because of state supreme court ruling.

why—many citizens donated $100 to the fund to become members of the Hospital Association.

AND HOW important the evidence of community support was in obtaining $2.5 million in federal and state grants.

And exactly what pieces of equipment the auxiliary hopes to finance in culmination of its fund drive.

"Right now we're mainly interested in raising money for a pneumatic tube system," said Mrs. Herb Rowley, chairman of the event.

But the auxiliary, made up of 12 guilds named after places in the life of John Muir, won't stop with the balloon sale.

AHWAHNEE GUILD, for example, hopes to raise more funds with a "Cloud Nine" social event at the Danville estate of Gordon H. Ball June 22.

Members of the 12 guilds have been canvassing individuals, business and professional offices in the last month.

Banks and stores are cooperating with displays and "windows" to promote individual support of the new hospital.

Plans call for ultimate expansion of the hospital to 250 beds.

RECOGNIZING THE youthful nature of the community, hospital directors have called for relatively large obstetric and pediatric departments, plus 24-hour emergency service, the latest in diagnostic and therapeutic equipment, strategic location and local control.

Backers of the facility are quick to point out that none of the advantages it will bring will cost one penny of local tax money.

Unpaid trustees locally elected by hospital association members will govern the operation.

THE REINFORCED concrete structure will house hospital operations as follows:

Top (7th) floor—pediatrics, 20 beds; sun deck.

Sixth floor—37 medical and surgical beds.

Fifth floor—a duplication of the sixth floor.

Fourth floor—30 medical and surgical beds; six intensive care beds.

Third floor—obstetrical services with 20 beds.

Second floor—six surgeries; central sterile supply.

First floor—laboratories; X-ray; emergency rooms; food service; administration.

The basement will house the power plant, maintenance operations, locker and storage rooms.

GENERALLY, rooms will be two-bed private, with several four-bed wards at lower rates.

The building itself will occupy only a fraction of the 10-acre site. Outside, extensive landscaping is planned a round liberal parking areas.

Construction began two months ago; the hospital is expected to open late next year.

As soon as the attacker left, the girl aroused the house with her screams. However, her father did not see or hear any one after being awakened, the report stated.

In each of the four incidents, no one has heard a car motor, the detective bureau told The Sun.

This might indicate the rapist is a resident of the area or merely parked his car a distance away from the homes he enters, detectives stated.

The girl's 16-year-old sister sleeping in another room heard nothing, the police report said. The kitchen and screen door were found open by the father when he went to the aid of his daughter.

Clues Lacking in Rape Case

Investigation of the rape of an 18-year-old college coed early Sunday morning continues today, but without a real lead.

The sheriff's detective bureau reported "nothing solid to go on at the present time."

Many men have been questioned, the bureau told The Sun, but without any success.

DETECTIVES are working on the theory that the rapist is the same man who entered a student's apartment in the same area two weeks ago, but left without harming the girl.

Two incidents similar to the one two weeks ago occurred in the same neighborhood during January and detectives theorize that all four cases might be the work of one man.

Sunday morning's rape was the first time anyone was harmed by the intruder.

Detectives noticed that in each case the men entered the homes easily through unlocked doors.

Sunday he walked through an unlocked kitchen door into the girl's bedroom. The police report showed all doors in the house were unlocked.

DETECTIVES AGAIN were handicapped by a lack of description. The coed could only report that man wore a baseball-type cap.

According to her report, the man held a pillow over the girl's face almost the entire time he was in her room.

The young student, home just a day from college, caught a glimpse of the man's hat and top of his head when he turned her over upon entering the room.

When she started to scream, he placed his hand over her mouth and told her to "be quiet and I won't hurt you," according to the deputy's report.

He then placed the pillow over her head.

THE GIRL told deputies she couldn't see any more. She told them he had a very soft voice when he stated "Don't move and I'll hurt you."

As soon as the attacker left, the girl aroused the house with her screams. However, her father did not see or hear any one after being awakened, the report stated.

In each of the four incidents, no one has heard a car motor, the detective bureau told The Sun.

This might indicate the rapist is a resident of the area or merely parked his car a distance away from the homes he enters, detectives stated.

The girl's 16-year-old sister sleeping in another room heard nothing, the police report said. The kitchen and screen door were found open by the father when he went to the aid of his daughter.

Youth Says Hitchhikers Rob Him

Two suspects in the alleged knife-point robbery of an Orinda youth were released Tuesday after the victim failed to identify them as his attackers.

Doug Rasmussen, 19, of 140 Camino Don Miguel, Orinda, reported to deputies Monday that he picked up two hitchhikers Monday morning on the way to work in Martinez.

After they got in the car near the Charles Hill Road overpass, one of the youths pulled a knife, Rasmussen said.

HE WAS TOLD to "Just keep driving and go where we tell you," according to the deputy's report.

Rasmussen said the two youths made him exit at Lafayette, drive down Moraga Road to Moraga Way and then toward Orinda. He told deputies he was then forced to turn at Hall Drive then onto Donald Drive. The hitchhikers then told him to stop at an isolated spot, he told deputies.

Rasmussen turned over $111 and then was beaten about the face and body and warned not to tell anyone, the police report said.

He claimed he stayed for about a half-hour before emerging. He found his car with the key in it where he had parked.

HE DESCRIBED the hitchhikers as 19 to 22 years of age.

Deputies reported that Rasmussen's shirt was badly torn, his face was cut and that he walked with a limp when they found him.

The investigation continues today.

In other activities during the week, five school buses at Miramonte High School were found with obscene word written in dust on the windshield and with crayon as well. A fire extinguisher was taken from one of buses. Numerals on one of the buses had been scraped off with a sharp object.

In Moraga, Von Guenther Construction Company continues to have troubles.

Officials of the company told deputies that another window had been broken and the water turned on, flooding the floor of the addition to Camino Pablo School which the firm is building.

DESPITE THE fact that no one heard or saw a fight, an Oakland youth claimed to sheriff deputies that he was attacked in downtown Orinda Saturday morning at 10:45, beaten and knifed by three youths.

The young man, on his way to visit an Orinda girl friend, said he was approached by the three youths who started pushing him. When he hit one of them, the three jumped him, one pulling a knife.

However, none of six merchants contacted by deputies had seen a fight.

Seniors Only to Belong To Acalanes Girls Clubs

Three out of the four girls' service clubs at Acalanes High School will limit membership to seniors, starting next spring. Chairman of the committee to study the clubs, Mrs. William McKee, made a report to the Acalanes Parents' Club board at its final meeting June 3 in the Acalanes library.

The three junior service clubs which will follow the new plan are Delta and Elusians, Mt. Diablo Therapy Center, and Fantasia, Children's Home Society. The fourth club, Daphne, sponsored by Children's Hospital of the East Bay, has not yet announced its decision.

THE NEW PLAN was originally proposed by Acalanes Principal Stanley Walgren. It followed a poll taken by the parents' club which indicated that two-thirds of the parents of Acalanes students believed that membership in the existing girls' clubs should be open to all who wish to join. Approximately one-third of the junior and senior girls are now members, according to the study committee. By limiting membership to seniors, and by perhaps later adding more clubs, the board expressed the hope that eventually all senior girls could belong to a service club.

"THIS IS THE first step in that direction," said Mrs. McKee. Representatives of the Therapy Center and the Home Society have been "cooperating" with the study committee to work out a plan.

Junior girls who already have received bids to a club will fill out their term. However, when the next bids are issued in May, three of the clubs will extend them only to seniors. These new members will become active the following fall. Therefore, the plan will become effective September, 1964.

Although the new plan is not one of "open membership," the study committee expected it to alleviate some of the existing problems. They gave the following reasons:

1. SINCE INVITATIONS will not be issued the end of the sophomore year, pressures on girls in this class will be removed. Some parents indicated that their daughters became so concerned about clubs their sophomore year that they felt their high school career, socially, depended on getting an invitation to the "right" club.

2. Seniors, being more mature, will be able to give greater emphasis to the service aspect of the clubs, and require less from these clubs as far as their social life is concerned.

3. Since there will be no junior year members, each club will be able to issue invitations to twice as many seniors, which will make club membership possible for many more girls who are interested in joining.

REPRESENTATIVES of the two sponsoring organizations have further indicated a determination to remove all aspects of such club membership from activities at Acalanes, stressing that club participation should in no way color school participation, according to the committee report.

These groups will keep in contact during the coming months, to insure a smooth transition to the new system.

Acalanes Parents' Club board sent letters to the Mt. Diablo Therapy Center and to the Children's Home Society, expressing thanks for the "cooperative and understanding" spirit of these two organizations, said Mrs. McKee.

'Good Program' For Girls P.E.

A report on girls' interscholastic sports was given to the Acalanes High School District trustees Wednesday night by Leland Russell, assistant superintendent for education.

Superintendent Neil Parsons commented that the district has a good girls' physical education program, is providing intra and interschool athletics for girls where interest has been shown, and will meet whatever program students may wish to participate in.

THE REPORT followed a request by the president of the Miramonte Parents Club, Mrs. Winifred Gilmore, that the district consider expanding girls' interscholastic sports competition.

Russell reported that both intraschool and interschool activities are sponsored by the district's high schools in varying degrees of intensity.

HE OBSERVED that "state department of education girls' physical education authorities and university specialists in girls' physical education sanction intraschool athletics but have some reservation about 'highly competitive' girls' athletic leagues."

Board member Alla Knudsen encouraged the district to be "alert to student interests," and Russell responded that the district is ready to provide programs "within the limits of facilities."

Trustee William Lee stated that he felt that "the interest of girls in athletics looks to be on the increase. Neighborhood pools and an improving attitude about participating athletics seem to be contributing to an increased interest in girls' sports."

4.4% Pay Boost Given Classified School Staff

Acalanes Union High School District trustees this week approved a 1963-64 pay increase for non-certificated employees. The raise will add 4.4 per cent to next year's allocation for such employees.

Of this amount, $21,900 for general employees will come from tax revenues; $6800 specifically for cafeteria workers will be provided by the district's self-supporting lunch system.

ON THE recommendation of Superintendent Neil M. Parsons, the board approved pay increases for:

Summer school instructors (increasing pay from $635 per summer session to $660); adult education teachers (who will get a new $5.25 hourly average); driver training instructors (who move from $4.25 per hour to $5); and substitute teachers (a 5 per cent increase).

Parsons stated that the increases are "required to keep the district on a reasonable comparative footing with other school systems in the area."

In other action this week trustees:

1. Awarded 20-year service certificates to Miss Lily Lahti, district coordinator of instruction; Mrs. Florence Landsman, foreign language teacher; Miss Josephine Ochoa, foreign languages; and Robert Lord, business education, all of Acalanes High School.

2. Called for bids for resurfacing outdoor Acalanes High basketball courts, estimated to cost around $4000; and bids to repair paving at all schools, estimated cost, $3000.

3. Approved a measure to allow associated student organizations at each school to keep nominal profits made from on-campus public telephones.

4. Renewed agreements with the Orinda School District and "Aqua Bears" for use of the Miramonte swimming pool, noting a comment by assistant superintendent for business Ross Regan that the Miramonte pool "opens in the morning for the Orinda School program, takes the public from 1 to 6 in the afternoon, and is used by 'Aqua Bears' from 6 to 9 in the evenings in 'saturated service.'"

5. Received with appreciation from Mrs. Richard Leland a letter of thanks in response to the governing board's recent resolution commending her role in helping to sponsor science and humanities seminars for pupils of the district.

6. Set August 7 for a public hearing on the District's final 1963-64 proposed budget.

7. Formally approved sabbatical leaves for teachers Robert Wignot, who will do advanced math studies at Bowdin College, Maine, and Camilla Dibert, who will study in Madrid. Both instructors are from Las Lomas.

Camp Deadline Is Tomorrow, Says Y Guide

Alan Lindsey, program secretary for the Mount Diablo "Y" and leader of the second annual "Adventure Camp," states that the deadline for reservations is tomorrow.

Any boy 12-14 years old is eligible to participate in the two sessions.

The first session (June 22-28) includes coastal sights such as Richardson Grove Redwoods, Russian Gulch State Park near Fort Bragg, a ride on the WPR "Skunk" train out of Fort Bragg and Fort Ross.

In addition, the boys will fish, swim and camp at the ocean as well as in the Russian River area.

Boating will also be featured and a tour of Lick Observatory near San Jose will wind up this first trip.

The fee for Session I is $43.75 and includes food, transportation, insurance, special fees for boat rentals, train fare, etc., and supervision.

Session II (July 1-9) will see the boys passing through Sacramento and overnight at the "Y" there, a tour of the Capital, and on to Lake Tahoe.

District Swim Team to Form

Boys and girls interested in joining the swim team of the Orinda schools' recreation department will meet Tuesday at noon at Miramonte swim pool.

"Anyone not swimming for another team or club is welcome to sign up, except AAU swimmers," said K. A. Fiske, director of the swim program for the recreation department.

Students who are in the seventh grade and older interested in volunteering as teacher aides should see Fisk at Miramonte Tuesday between 9 a.m. and noon.

Press Freedom Is Guaranteed

It was gratifying for this newspaper to report that the Moraga School District's board of trustees did not go into executive (closed) session to discuss a story that appeared in The Sun.

The board acted well in not considering the request of Superintendent William Knight for such a session.

The board members apparently know well the law, in this case the Brown Act, which prohibits legislative bodies from going into executive or secret sessions.

INCIDENTS of this nature manage to come up every once in a while and always serve as a reminder to public officials that "open meetings" are required by law and that suppression of the facts is a crime.

Violation of the Brown Act is a misdemeanor for all persons willfully taking part.

The Brown Act clearly states that bodies such as a school board can only go into secret session to discuss appointment, employment or dismissal of a public officer or to hear complaints about an employee.

The act embodies the principle of press freedom and takes into account the average citizen who has the right to know exactly what public agencies are doing.

BECAUSE Mr. Citizen can't always attend meetings, the newspaper fills the role of provider of information. The vast majority of citizens rely on the newspaper for information about school boards, city council meetings, board of supervisors, fire board and so on.

This is the reason for the Brown Act.

A mistake was made by Superintendent Knight in asking for an executive session to discuss a newspaper article.

Robert Amber, a member of the school board, stated he had "no particular feeling" for it to be discussed in closed session.

Board President Rex Collings Jr. said he would "not be a party to any executive session to discuss censorship of news."

KNIGHT stated that his reason for wanting the secret session was basically "to decide who is going to disseminate news about the school in an orderly manner."

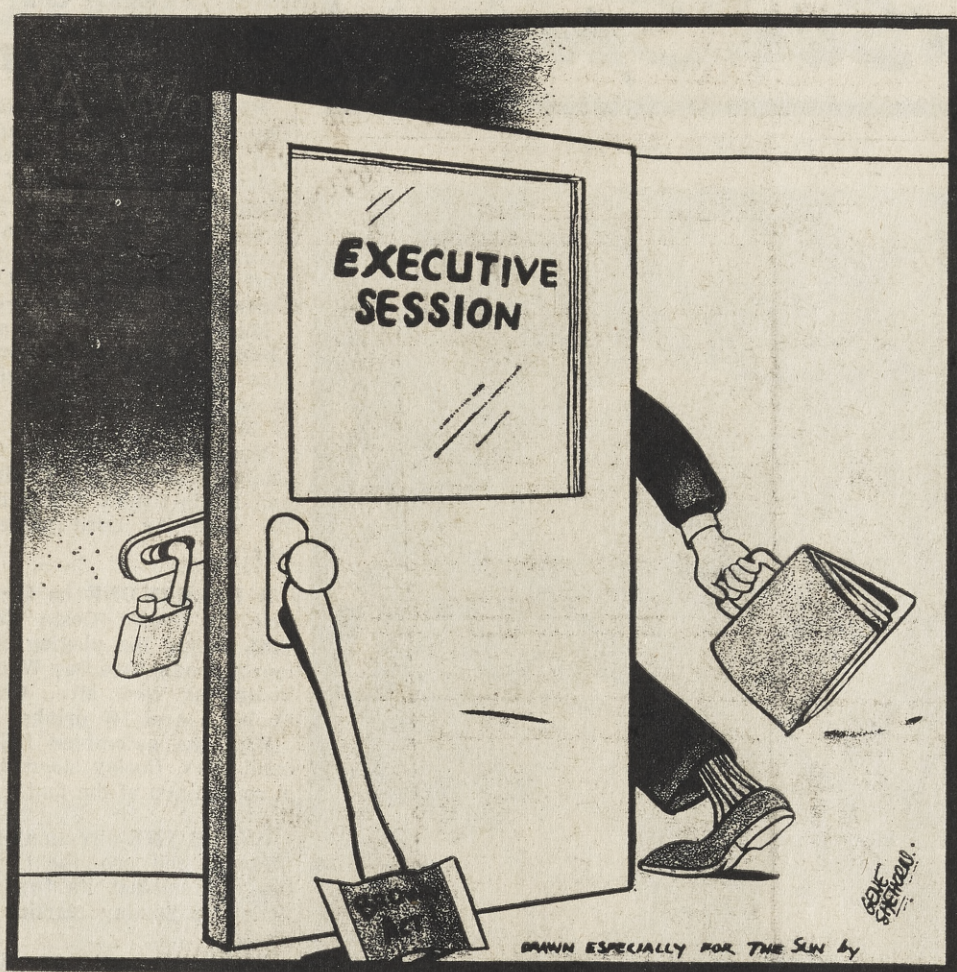

A newspaper can only take this as an attempt to halt members of the board and school personnel from talking freely.

This has been commonly referred to as "news management." This, we feel, is also an infringement of press freedom and we feel Superintendent Knight is in error in trying to arrange a program of news management.

It is hoped that this affair in Moraga is now over and will not come up again.

It is also hoped that this matter will help remind other public agencies of their obligation to the residents of the community.

Letters to The Editor

Editor:
Enclosed is a copy of a letter I have sent to Mel Nielsen, a member of the Contra Costa County board of supervisors:

Dear Mr. Nielsen:
I have been writing various people in Martinez regarding the deplorable condition at Brook Street and Dewing Avenue in Lafayette. From their answers, I see that copies of this correspondence have gone to you, Mr. Sauer (Victor Sauer, head of the county public works department) writes "Satisfactory repair of the road cannot be accomplished until local property owners... participate on an appropriate basis."

As a member of the American Right of Way Association and a negotiator for the City of Oakland, I know, of course, that under the law of Eminent Domain necessary work on a county road can proceed without delay, pending later adjustments of cost.

The temporary work that has been done at this intersection is so temporary that we have repeated slides making almost impassable the only ingress and egress to Boyer Circle where I live. This condition is growing steadily worse and in my opinion is extremely dangerous notwithstanding all arguments to the contrary.

I desire this to serve as notice that I consider the county responsible for dangers that might at any time occur at this point.

ARTS PAGEANT

Editor:
Referring to the Walnut Creek Eighth Annual Pageant of Arts, which was most favorably received by the general public, and rated by the critics as one of the best cross section art shows on the coast.

There are a few local opponents who are opposed to the continuation of this cultural program.

And are constantly releasing criticism to the press proposing that the two jury system be adopted.

To the best of my knowledge the California State Fair has adopted the two jury system on a trial basis.

I would suggest that those few opponents of the "Pageant tax support" establish residence within the incorporated limits of the City of Walnut Creek before they become the champions of the poor taxpayers.

In essence, this cultural program is conducted mostly by

Let's Shun Charges of Do-Gooders

By GEORGE COLBURN

A call was made by an Ohio State University alumnus for an end to "professional" athletics by his alma mater.

I cry "shame, shame" at this man for wanting to end a great American heritage. And besides that he should have more sense, more faith in the American system of doing things.

We all know that he speaks the truth, but he shouldn't say such things to the press.

It's apparent that his words will not be long remembered and his kid will never go far at OSU. If this man really meant what he said, he'll probably send his offspring elsewhere because he is obviously disillusioned by his school.

On the other hand what if Johnny is a top athlete? Ah, now this is a horse of a different color.

Even though dad might have money, just think of the money he can save if Johnny gets a "free ride" from OSU. And besides mere money, there's so much more prestige to watch your son score touchdowns, score baskets and hit homeruns for the grand old alma mater.

I know what I'm talking about. I come from a family of four boys—all sports-minded. My poor mother had to tolerate Lions, Tigers, Pistons, Spartans, Wolverines, etc., never quite knowing what was going on. If she had nothing to do and was forced to sit with five sports-crazy males watching a professional football game on TV, she would politely be told which team (light jerseys or dark) to root for.

She used to dread following the clan to watch me perform in a baseball game. And did I usually perform! After kicking to death four ground balls in one game as a youth, I steadfastly refused her admittance to any more games.

Good old mom wasn't to lead her whole life in darkness and exile, however.

After three flops, son No. 4, the sickly baby suddenly grew up. At 17, he's still growing at 6-3, 215 lbs.

Parents in the stands didn't seem to give him stage fright.

In three years of varsity football his team lost four games. For the five years prior to his first varsity season, his school had lost every game. Once a team threatened to score 100 points on them (a football game, I'm talking about.)

My brother's effort and recognition he won as a senior helped erase the memory of son No. 3 performing during three of those five winless years. He still has the scars of dedicated sacrifice.

The school helped erase the memories, too. They completely changed the school colors and burned in great sacrifice the old colors after their first win in six years. The celebration would put San Francisco's pennant day last year to shame.

Mother was able to cheer for red jerseys instead of green ones and the old days were gone forever and she was happy. Her son excelled in many sports, even acted like a gentleman in class and had good marks.

Forgotten were the dismal days.

Now, I'm sure my father could have been that OSU alum a few years back and cried for the return of amateurism to college sports. But, there's a problem here. He had no star athletes before.

Son No. 4 is a "professional" in every sense of the word. He eats, sleeps and drinks in the interest of maintaining his football abilities.

He could not work in the summer months; all players were required to take P.E. classes, etc.

After feeding a goliath of a man for four years; watching him grow and take most of that weekly paycheck, you don't think my dad is going to continue this foolishness as son No. 4 develops in college.

No sir, the college can pay if they want him to play.

So the cycle ends. The flops paid their own way with a little of dad's help. He lost money on the deal, but they didn't eat as much of "little brother." He's really lost the cash on No. 4.

Who's going to pay for him? The college he goes to—you're so right!

Let's continue to cry "shame, shame" at these do-gooders every time they want to end a great American heritage. We must remember our "ideals."

P.S. Our OSU friend had all girls, I hear.

Under The Sun Balinese Beauties Add To Breathtaking Scene

By HERMAN SILVERMAN

DENPASER, BALI, INDONESIA (Delayed)

For scores of years, tourists have called Bali "the most beautiful island in the world."

Good wife Eleanor still votes for Bora Bora and its beautiful lagoon, small islets and langorous way of life.

For "one-look beauty" I'll vote for Moorea, across from Tahiti. The wonderful "one-look" is at the breathtaking bay, level with coco palms against the sheer beauty of jagged volcano peaks in the background. But for "over-all" beauty I'll now vote for Bali, because of its miles of green rice patties, sweeping beaches, steaming volcanoes, shimmering lakes, Hindu villages and happy people.

And now I'll remind you that the isle of Bali is also famous for its bare-breasted beauties. Shall I write further? Or would you rather see my movies?

The truth is that much of the female population (away from the capital of Denpasar) does wear very little or nothing except a Batik or cotton skirt. Before all you men head for the nearest ticket office, let me explain.

At home or in the fields

Only the middle aged and older women work and walk around the streets bare upstairs. The younger women wear blouses, except around their homes or working in the fields.

But no one is modest at afternoon bath time, when nearly an entire village bathes in the stream along the road or at a nearby river. Men, women and kids frolic in the water and think nothing of it. You can take pictures. The younger damsels are more modest and sometimes will turn their backs.

The Indonesian government has been trying to get all the women to cover up, but so far without much success. This is simply their way of life, a custom of thousands of years.

Balinese dancer tells old Hindu story

Perhaps I had better explain that Eleanor and I had the opportunity of flying to Indonesia on a speedy Cathay Pacific jet. The Sun Orient Holiday group enjoyed two previous flights with the British-owned Cathay Pacific. Good food, lovely Oriental hostesses, British pilots and Cathay flies on schedule. (We will be home by the time you read this.)

Their way of life is similar in many ways to the Tahitians. Both have ample food supplies, good water, land of their own. The Balinese work hard at harvest time and whenever necessary, but otherwise they lead a slow, leisurely life. No Milltown pills, no psychiatrists.

No great problems

Their sex life is similar to the Tahitians—no great problems. If the woman no longer wants to stay with her man, she simply returns to her parents' home. Or the man can send her home. The couple always lives in the man's family home. If there is a separation, any children remain with the father and his family.

The Balinese differ from the Tahitians; in Bali, they go through a wedding ceremony every time they marry. It is an important, festive occasion, even though the couple may not stay together. In Tahiti, they don't bother marrying.

In Bali a man can have more than one wife, if he can afford it and desires it. But a woman is limited to one husband at a time.

The Balinese are devout. Their whole life, their family and village revolve around their religion. It is a mixture of Buddhism, Hinduism and Anamism. Every home has an outdoor area with shrines.

The Balinese are upset, naturally, by the eruptions of the Mt. Agung volcano, extinct until last March. Then this Holy Mountain erupted, killing 2000 and making 300,000 people homeless.

Yesterday we drove near the volcano, seeing thousands of acres of rich farm land covered with inches of volcanic ash. About noon the clouds blew away and we could clearly see the volcano cone.

Mt. Agung Erupting

I have already sent a story describing what happened when Agung exploded violently May 15 about 5 p.m. When it was dark we could see the lightning-like flashes thousands of feet in the sky. These were huge red hot boulders above the volcano. We did not see the lava flow which reportedly moved 8000 feet down the east side.

We were in the market place next to the Bali Hotel. There was no fuss nor excitement. The people were not even looking at the fiery boulders. We felt they intentionally did not watch because of fear. Thousands have been ordered to evacuate their homes. Yet, we noted very little outward concern or activity.

Today hundreds of miles over Bali and Java are covered with a black volcanic fog and fallout. Flying back to Djakarta, we could not see Agung because of the volcanic fog.

Tomorrow Cathay Pacific and its Siamese beauties take us to Bangkok via Singapore.

Eleanor then hops on Qantas for Sydney, Australia. I'll head for Taipei, Taiwan (Formosa) for a day and then home.

BARTD Directors Cut the Budget

In this day of the relentless tax hike, it was certainly refreshing to see the Bay Area Rapid Transit District go the other way—especially after all the recent publicity claiming the district's waste of public funds.

It had been estimated that the first-year tax of the district would be 14 cents or better.

When the directors considered what they had to do the first year, the tax rate was estimated to be 9.4 cents.

Then last week, budget cuts of almost $250,000 were agreed on.

THIS MEANS the tax rate will go below nine cents.

It would seem that directors of the district, already taking bows for going under the 14-cent estimate, weren't satisfied even then.

To cut $250,000, no small figure, more off the budget was an act almost unknown in this day and age. It did not have unanimous consent which must be expected.

Most budgets, depending on the tax dollar usually go the other way.

This newspaper keeps pleading with government bodies to watch expenses and to keep a careful eye on taxes.

ALONG WITH actually paring off a considerable hunk from the budget, good old-fashioned cooperation between the district and the State Department of Public Works will cut construction costs, it was reported last week.

An agreement between the two agencies was announced that will reduce costs and speed construction of the combination freeway-transit route through North Oakland.

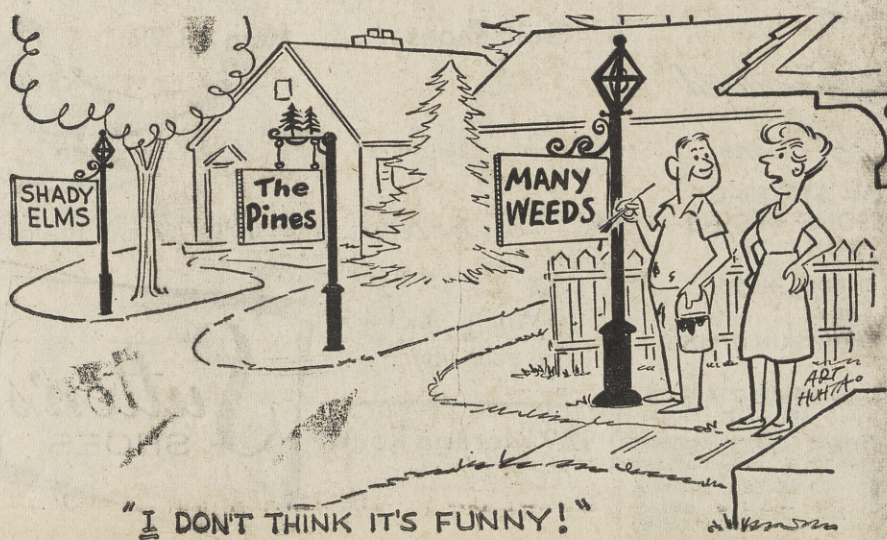

The agreement calls for joint action on financing, right of way purchase, engineering and basic construction.

This cooperation between district and state has produced a substantial savings to the taxpayers within the transit district.

It is good to see directors of the district working so hard in the public interest.

So far it's been a job well done—one that taxpayers can be thankful for.

With only two weeks of play gone by, the charmed circle of undefeated teams in the Walnut Creek Junior Baseball League has already been reduced to 10.

Eric Bowen struck out 14 batters to pitch Norm Robinson Chevrolet to a 11-6 win over Clifford Electric. Jerry Merten led the victors with three hits.

Hull's W.C. Chapel turned on Parker Robb Chevrolet, 9-4. Glenn Robb, the winning pitcher, aided his cause with three hits.

Burt Steele also collected three hits for Hull's. Dennis Geare, Hull's center fielder, was the defensive star. Bruce Mello drove in three of Parker Robb's four runs.

Broadway Merchants, after watching the Tigers score eight times in one inning, fought back to a 9-8 victory. Tim Smith, Merchant right fielder, made a spectacular catch.

PIONEER LEAGUE

The Optimist Cubs are the only undefeated team in the Pioneer League. Jim Huff hurled an impressive two-hit shutout as the Cubs downed the Optimist Cardinals, 2-0. The game, scoreless until the sixth, was broken open as Gary Malmgren doubled, followed by hits by Huff and Rory Osborne, enabling Chris Davis to drive in two runs with a single. Rich Jacobsen pitched well for the Cardinals.

Simon Hardware became the spoilers as they knocked the Giants from the undefeated ranks. Tony Varel handled the pitching as his mates jumped on the Giant pitchers.

WESTERN LEAGUE
Lupoli Market registered its initial win, defeating the Bullets, 8-6. Mike Maters started the rally with a triple. John Pelletier, in addition to pitching the victory, gathered two hits, as did John Carey. Ross Rowley went 3-4 for the Bullets.

Marshal Realtor notched its first victory by downing the WCYAA 6-2 behind Paul Gruell's pitching. Brian Frank paced the Realtors at the plate.

The Bullets, playing their second game of the week, called upon Dale Brooks' pitching arm to stop the Walnut Bowl, 6-3. Brooks also collected three hits, as did Charlie Loeser.

Other second-place finishers for the Aquabears were the 10-12-year boys' 200-yard medley team and the 15-17-year-old boys' 200-yard freestyle relay entry.

Joining with Diane Wetmore, Sue Duke and Debbie Pederson, she swam a lap on the medley team that set a new Junior Olympic record of 2:25.6.

In the 11-12-year-old girls' division, Peggy Hart established a new Junior Olympic mark for the girls' 100-yard breaststroke of 1:17.9. She rounded out her double win for the day with a victory in the 50-yard backstroke in 33.3.

Harry's Nursery's Twin Wins Pace Little League

After a festive motorcade and opening day ceremonies, the Lafayette Little League officially opened its schedule with Harry's Nursery defeating California Glass, 9-0. This was the first win of a double killing registered by the Nurserymen, as they came back to edge Lafayette Sports Center, 6-5, Tuesday evening.

In the opener on the minors' slate Jacuzzi Bros. downed Cunningham Tire, 8-5.

For Jacuzzi, Hal Mart pitched effectively. He picked up eight strikeouts over the first five innings.

However, he began to tire a little towards the end, and Paul Hallgren came in to put the damper on the Cunningham rally and strike out the last two batters.

Paul Nagy was the winning pitcher in both of Harry's Nursery's games. He had plenty of help in the contest with California Glass, as his teammates gave him a nine run bulge to work with.

However, in the game with Lafayette Sports Center, the Nurserymen were trailing 5-0 going into the last inning. Nagy then Orinda's Summer League rolled into its second week with play highlighted by some "tight" battles. Except for a few scores that mounted into double figures, most games were well played contests.

Jacuzzi and Doten Play Crucial Tilt Tomorrow

A showdown is shaping up tomorrow in the Babe Ruth competition, when the Doten Indians of Orinda meet the Lafayette Jacuzzis in a game to be played at 10 a.m. on the Acalanes diamond.

Both teams impressed in their season openers Saturday.

Lafayette, behind the fine pitching performance of Richie Stephenson, downed Martinez Boys Club, 9-4. Stephenson struck out 18 and scattered three hits on his way to the win.

Denny Johnson was a stand-out for the Jacuzzis at third base.

Craig Blencowe and Jim Stephens provided the scoring punch at the plate.

Lafayette Pirates made their league debut a successful one, outlasting the Danville Angels, 10-8.

Orinda's entry, the Doten Indians, edged by the Danville Stars, 3-1.

Mike Salata was on the mound for the Orinda nine, and also singled in the go-ahead run in the seventh inning. The Dotens scored an insurance run in that inning on a Danville error. The results of the Dotens' game with the Martinez Boys Club on Wednesday weren't down at press time.

The Dotens shape as a top contender in the league.

In Salata they have one of the top pitchers in the Foothill Athletic League. Herb Hofvendahl, a shortstop and Scott Babcock are the mainstays of a strong mound.

Jerry Texdahl, presently playing the outfield, has been hampered by tendonitis in his shoulder. Prospects right now, however, are good that he'll be able to take his turn on the mound in about a month.

SF Giant Rookies In WC Sunday

With a 12-1 victory over the Pleasant Hill Twins to their credit, the Sports and Games Giants prepare for a little inter-family tiff at 11 a.m. Sunday at Civic Field in Walnut Creek with the San Francisco Giant Rookies.

Mel Alamano describes the visiting Giants as "probably the toughest team we'll meet this season."

The transbay Giants, under the direction of Dutch Anderson, have been one of the top rookie clubs in Northern California for the past several seasons.

However, on the basis of the talent displayed in their opener last week, Sports and Games can be expected to make a real ball game of it.

ALAMANO will go with the same three pitchers he used in the curtain raiser. Chuck Midlands will probably start, with Bill Remy getting the middle stint and Richie Nye slated to wind things up.

Don Sanchez, infielder from Oakland, is joining the club this week. A good infielder, Sanchez is reputed to wield a heavy bat.

Remy, giving up but two hits, as did Nye and Midlands, was credited with the win over the Twins in the Scooter Clune benefit game.

The local Giants got off to a good start, scoring twice in the first inning. Making good use of the homerun play, they built a comfortable lead and were never pressed.

IN THE OPENING inning, after Bob Morris had singled, senior citizen type Joe McElroy demonstrated he had far too much experience for young Mark Perrin, as he belted one of Perrin's offerings for a 335-foot homer.

In the fourth stanza, Tom Quontamatto, Giant backstop, belted a line shot over the left-field fence.

Terry Siberlich blasted one into orbit in the seventh with two men on base to close out the scoring.

In all, the Giants collected 11 hits, while the Twins were held to a total of six.

The Sports and Games team impressed favorably in their first game of the season. The pitching appears solid and the hitters are able to collect their share of hits.

Sherman's Diving Lassies In Junior Olympic Sweep

Local divers, paced by members of the Sherman Swim School of Lafayette dominated the Junior Olympic Diving Competition at Sacramento last weekend.

Highlighting the local participants' performance was the unprecedented sweep of first places by the Sherman Swim School's girl divers.

In the Girls 10 year old and under division, Sherman divers captured the first four places. Page Peterson with a total of 101.80 was the winner.

Norma Chandler with 208.65 was the winner in the girls 11-12 year class.

Jane Favor, another Sherman product, accumulated 266.30 to win the girls 13-14 year group.

Dinny Learned Old Army Game

By HEC HANCOCK

Quite often, the careers of many golf professionals seem to fall in a general pattern.

They were introduced to the game at a very young age.

It might have been a caddy. Or perhaps their father showed them around the links for the first time.

INVARIABLY, their swings caught the attention of others.

Fifth in a Series and their golf careers has thus been launched.

Regardless of the starting point, golf became irrevocably a part of their lives, leading to their present status.

However, Dinny Dinsmore, professional at Releiz Valley Country Club, proves to be an exception to the standard pattern.

Strangely enough, Dinny's golf career had its start in the U.S. Army.

DINSMORE, at the ripe old age of 39, retired from the Army in February 1961 with the rank of Lt. Colonel after 22½ years of service.

While serving for Uncle Sam, Dinsmore had the occasion to play quite a bit of golf. This in turned to assignments managing golf courses for the Army.

His first such experience came in 1947. Serving with the occupational forces in Japan, he managed the Hodogaya course in Yokohama until 1948.

SINCE THIS was right after the war, Dinsmore was surprised to learn that the course needed relatively little repair to put it in playable condition. Bomb damage to the fairways had been fairly minor.

Following that assignment, Dinsmore returned to the golfing scene in 1950. At that time he took over the management of the Rokko-San Golf Course in Kobi. He remained at that point until 1951.

In addition to his assignments to the courses in Japan, Dinsmore played in a number of service tournaments at his various duty stations throughout the world.

Since taking over the Releiz Valley course, Dinny has had the opportunity to introduce his two oldest sons, Wayne and Mike to the game. Nine and eight years old respectively, the boys are currently mastering the mechanics of the smooth swing.

RELEIZ VALLEY is an excellent family course. Since it is definitely on the short side, it lends itself well to the games of the female younger members of the household.

However, a number of the greens are very much on the tricky side, thus enabling the course to command the attention of the better golfers.

It's around these greens, as well as any greens, that Dinsmore has observed that most weekend golfers get into trouble scorewise.

Dinsmore notes that half of the game, or 36 strokes on a 72 par course are on the green. Thus, this is the area that can stand the most attention.

ONE OF the biggest faults of the average weekend golfer according to Dinsmore is the inclination to reach for too lofted a club for the short chip shot.

If you lie only 15 feet or so off the green, and have a clear approach, Dinsmore reports that you'll fare much better if you use a seven or six iron.

Dinny states "It's too easy to scuff with the highly lofted clubs. Leave the wedges to the pros. Use a six or seven iron, right distance. You can be off on your direction, but if the distance is right, you'll have a short second putt," explains Dinsmore.

Certainly, makes sense. But doggone it, I've still got a problem. Dinny got away before I could find out from him the really big question.

How do you sink that short putt, concentrate on getting the second putt?

Greatest Woman Bowler Set for WC Appearance

Marion Ladewig, acclaimed as the greatest woman bowler of all time, will make a series of appearances in the Walnut Creek-Moraga area June 28-29.

An exhibition match has been scheduled by Vance Haswell for the Walnut Creek Bowl at 10 p.m. on Friday, June 28, featuring Mrs. Ladewig and Helen Duval, National Doubles Champion and well known local bowler.

Mrs. Ladewig is also slated to conduct a clinic at Walnut Creek at 1 p.m. on Friday afternoon.

On Saturday, Mrs. Ladewig will move over to the Rheem Bowl. There she will bowl exhibitions at 2 p.m. and 8 p.m. against the winners of a roll out of Rheem women bowlers.

Mrs. Ladewig has been named Woman Bowler of the Year eight times, and Michigan's Woman Athlete of All-Time. She is the first woman elected to Michigan's Athletic Hall of Fame.

She is a grandmother, living in Grand Rapids, Michigan, and has been bowling since 1937 with an all-time average of better than 190.

A member of the Brunswick Advisory Staff, the exhibitions will be open to the public.

PHSC Swimmers Cop 11 Ribbons

Led by triple winners, Jim Southward and Bernie Stenson, the Pleasant Hill Swim Club made a strong showing with finalists in 40 events at the Junior Olympics at Sacramento last weekend.

Stenson set a new record in the boys' 10 and under 100-yard freestyle of 1:03.9. He also won blue ribbons in the 50-yard butterfly and backstroke.

Southward won the 11-2 boys' 50-yard butterfly and backstroke. He climaxed his meet's performance with a record-breaking performance of 1:04.4 in the 100-yard backstroke.

Sandy Johnson was the winner of the 11-12-year girls' 50-yard breaststroke.

Mari Evans swam to a share of a three-way tie for first in the 10-and-under girls' 50-yard breaststroke.

The PHSC 11-12 girls relay team comprised of Laurie Kilbuck, Sandy Johnston, Nikki Jelonek and Kathy Percy won the 200-yard medley. PHSC tied for first in the 200-yard freestyle with a quartet of Johnston, Jelonek, Percy and Nikki Clark.

PHSC's 13-14 year old boys relay team of Dallas Hardy, Ron Dadami, Gary Fraser and Harry Diaz were the winners of the 200-yard medley event. Previously, they had been nosed out by the Santa Clara team in the 200-yard freestyle event.

Christ the King Wins 2 Titles in DCL Baseball

In the recently-concluded first baseball season of the Diablo Catholic League, Christ the King of Pleasant Hill won two of the four division crowns.

Christ the King won the fourth and seventh grade titles. St. Perpetua of Lafayette won the fifth grade title while St. Mary's of Walnut Creek was the winner of the sixth grade division.

The fourth-grade champions compiled a 5-1 record to edge St. Perpetua by one game.

In the fifth grade St. Perpetua lost just one game, the last, as it outdistanced the field with a 7-1 mark.

St. Mary's sixth-grade title was on the basis of a 4-3 record, barely edging out St. Perpetua, 4-4.

In the seventh grade division, Christ the King won the title by a half game over St. Perpetua. The champions finished with a 5-2-1 mark while the runner-up had a 5-3 record.

Flood Control Budget Tops Four Millions

Flood control costs for Contra Costa residents will creep up by three mills to two cents per $100 assessed valuation if budgets proposed are approved.

County flood control and water conservation district commissioners completed recommendations last week.

Total budget asked is $4,780,623. Included in the recommendation is a request for the two-cent property tax levy to raise about $16,345—most of it for staff salaries.

Chief Engineer Carl Rich noted that about 70 cents of each dollar in the total budget (which excludes drainage zones) is returned through state and federal subventions.

Fishing Getting Better; Evans Heads Sportsmen

By GEORGE R. WHITE

Long's Bait Shop—The wind blew a new school of stripers into the bay running up to about 15 pounds . . . salmon has been fair, averaging one or two per rod. Crappies at Conn Dam are good . . . black bass at Berryessa is good, with them hitting on surface gear . . . Putah Creek is good for cats.

Mrs. Harper at McEvoy's Resort—Still windy, Jim Fillmore of Concord got a string of cats up to 4½ pounds . . . Ted Spencer and his wife of Pittsburg fished for two days and limited out on cats.

Bob's Boat Dock—Spanish Flats—Berryessa—says that bluegills up to 1½ pounds are being caught.

Don's Bait Shop—Clear Lake Highlands—Very good the past weekend, crappie fishing excellent . . . cats are good . . . black bass still slow, but are on the increase, hitting on surface lures.

Davis Lake Resort—Lake Alameda—Pretty good in the lake on rainbow and German brown, a few kokanee at the springs and trolling . . . Walker Lake (Mtn. Meadow Res.) alongside of Westwood, limits of bass on spinners . . . Hamilton branch yields good limits of trout and smallmouth bass, every hole worked you got strikes . . . Round Valley Res. at Greenville is also yielding black bass.

United Sportsmen just elected a new slate of officers for the coming year. They are: Pres. Arthur Evans; vice pres., David (Digger) O'Dell; Duke Nunes, sec.; Norm Rudie, treas.; Jack Parsons, sgt.-at-arms.

Bay Point Rod and Gun has several events in the offing. To start with, on June 22, they'll have their installation dinner and dance at the clubhouse at Six Inlet Rd., Pittsburg . . . July 14 will mark a chuck wagon breakfast of hot cakes and bacon from 8-10:30 a.m. at the range and a request is made for you to bring your shootin' iron for the competitive events that follow the breakfast . . . the club is also holding regular courses of the Jr. Hunter Safety classes, call Duke Nunes at 458-3013. By the way, the family is invited to the above-mentioned breakfast and shoot.

Concord Sportsmen have their clubhouse 75 per cent finished and sidetracking a lot of club plans at the moment to get it done before the hunting season gets into full swing. And they have tentative plans for 'nother Ham and Bacon shoot in August.

Walnut Creek Sportsmen say that more help is needed on the range to finish up a lot of small stuff and get the big jobs rolling. Also on the 25th of this month there will be an election of new officers for the club.

RECEIVED a news note from the Mother Lode Gun Club, Inc. of Sonoma, Calif., and they list a few competitive matches some of you may be interested in. July 7—a 30-cal. match at Manteca Sportsmen range, starting at 9 a.m., with an entrance fee of $2, and the same day an M-1 rifle match, same place, entry fee of $3, ammo furnished.

'PEARS that if the wind will die down a bit during the day, the fishing will pick up tremendously. Also it seems that the fish are starting to come off spawn, slow but sure. So get your gear ready to go. The word will be passed around fast.

LITTLE SNAKES swimming in water where big black bass lurk are in constant mortal danger. Why? Because black bass like 'em.

A guy by the name of Dick Kotis at the Fred Arbogast Co. let me in on the ground floor about a few things that happen back there in Ohio.

Well, Dick says this new lure called the "Whedler" is the thing in regards to the snake business. Even the smart old bass that grew up laughing at artificial lures would be forgiven for lunging at this one.

Dick says they come in several colors. So try one. It should be worth it when the bass come off spawn.

TIGER STANDOUT—Bob Kreider, shown here bunting in a Las Lomas game this year, is just one of many outstanding young players on the Walnut Creek Tigers who open the season Sunday at Civic Field.

Crutcher Named Co-Winner With Husted of Award

Bob Crutcher and Chuck Husted were named as the outstanding athletes of 1962-63 at the San Ramon Valley High School Award assembly last Friday.

Larry DeRushia, athletic director, presented Crutcher and Husted the Cecil B. Matthews award. The award, given in honor of the former San Ramon High athletic great, is based on the qualities of good sportsmanship, leadership, excellence in two or more sports, co-operation and sincere devotion to sports and school.

This year marks the first time in the seven-year history of the award that the balloting has ended in a tie.

Most valuable player trophies were presented to each sport. The nine winners were: Dick Mueller, JV baseball; Phil Kreibel, All-FAL infielder, baseball, Richard Dahout, JV Swimming; John Keane, varsity swimming; Gary Crabbe, tennis; Wayne Woodside, B track; Dave Anderson, varsity track; and Pete Dozier, golf.

Letters and certificates were presented by respective coaches in JV and varsity baseball; A and B track; JV and varsity swimming; tennis and golf. Eighty-two San Ramon athletes were honored.

Jim Cozens vice principal and League representative, presented the FAL perpetual golf championship to golf coach Larry Church.

WC Tigers Meet Twins In CCBA League Opener

Resplendent in new cardinal and white uniforms, the Walnut Creek Tigers will tangle with the Pleasant Hill Twins at Civic Field in Walnut Creek at 2 p.m. to get the newly formed Central California Baseball Association season underway.

Perry Kreider, skipper of the Tigers, has indicated that he is planning on going with a battery of Rich Bovo and Darryl Razzano, both fresh from the championship Las Lomas nine.

Vince Di Basi of the Pleasant Hill Twins will counter with Mark Perrin on the mound and Mike Taylor behind the plate.

MEANWHILE, over at Moraga, the Lafayette Gaels will open their season against the highly regarded Fitzpatrick Chevrolet's Colt 45s.

Perry Kreider, a member of the Tiger coaching staff, reported that his club conducted its first workout this week with a three-inning stint on the mound.

The Newest Sensation In Plant Nutrition and Deep Soil Penetration

TERR-O-VITE

The All-Purpose Fertilizer that Makes Water Wetter

"Doc" Cha-Kem-Co says:

Why is TERR-O-VITE TODAY'S BIG VALUE ?

it's the answer to modern gardening the complete fertilizer PLUS

TERR-O-VITE supplies the important nutrients all plants must have to thrive.

TERR-O-VITE contains elements that enter into the manufacture of vital root-forming enzymes and also reduces transplanting shock.

TERR-O-VITE's heavy concentration of Chelating Agents plus Chelated Iron, Zinc and Manganese help to prevent and cure Chlorosis (yellow foliage) induced by high concentrations of alkali in soil or water.

TERR-O-VITE's chemical reactions in the soil break down Adobe, Caliche, Hardpan and Alkali soils so they can be broken with a trowel instead of a tractor.

TERR-O-VITE's Wetter-Water principle saves water and fertilizer by reducing runoff.

You don't need to Pick and Sweat Bore Holes or Dynamite

to get fertilizer down deep in soil where plants really feed

Just Spray on TERR-O-VITE
the key that unlocks the secrets of full plant nutrition

WARNING!

There are imitation products on the market that are supposed to be "as good as TERR-O-VITE but cheaper." Beware of such imitations. They may be fertilizers made with inferior grades of urea, high in bluret content. This chemical is known to be toxic to many plants when used consistently. JC College Dist. Considering a Budget Increase

A tentative budget for 1963-64 of $6,336,384, an increase of $295,071 over 1962-63, was adopted by the governing board of the Contra Costa Junior College District Monday night.

William Kirby, chief accountant, said that a tax rate of 41.8 cents, an increase of three-tenths of one cent, is indicated at this point, although this may change as further revisions are made.

THE BOARD is scheduled to adopt a publications budget on July 15 and a final budget August 8.

The district expects to start the new fiscal year with a balance of $1,158,592, to raise $3,888,672 through district taxes, and to receive $737,500 in state funds, $387,500 in non-resident tuition, and $55,000 in federal-state vocational funds, to name a few major sources of revenue.

It expects to spend $3,245,939 on its instructional program, $112,854 for administration, $604,173 for operation and maintenance, $188,550 on community services, and $1,698,284 for capital outlay.

THE LATTER includes the first unit of a huge academic center at Diablo Valley College and a new music building at Contra Costa College, San Pablo.

Progress is the activity of today and the assurance of tomorrow.

'Instant Color' Can Be Added to Your Garden

If your garden lacks color this month there's no reason to despair, for you'll find plenty of it at the corner nursery.

Instant color is the term used by the California Association of Nurserymen to describe the various plants which bloom in nursery containers. You merely transplant them into your garden and—presto, you've got color once again.

ROSES TOP the C.A.N. list of instant color shrubs in June. Their first blooms have faded and the second crop is ready to burst forth, if it hasn't already. You have the advantage, too, of seeing the bushes in bloom before you buy them.

It is well to remember, when shopping for container-grown roses—that they will do much better in your garden than they are doing in containers.

In planting a container rose, be sure that the can has been slit by your nurseryman when you buy it, then dig a hole at least twice the size of the container and at least six inches deeper. Mix the earth with manure and use this mixture to fill in around the root ball.

First fill in the bottom of the hole so that the root ball will be at the same level in the ground as it was in the can. Then simply fill in around the root with your soil mix. Tamp the new soil firmly around the root ball and water thoroughly to settle the whole works.

CUSHION CHRYSANTHEMUMS also make wonderful splashes of instant color in a June garden, maintaining their bloom right through the summer months. These flashy little mums practically smother themselves in color. If you keep the fading blooms cut back, you will enjoy new crops of bloom well into the fall.

Cushion mums have the same fondness for water and food that their larger cousins have. Feed them every two or three weeks with liquid fish, or with any complete fertilizer and water them regularly so that the new growth never hardens off from lack of moisture. Pinching straggling growth back will keep plants compact.

Often the brightest color comes from the most common of plants, and this is certainly the case with the marguerite. This don't sulk and die with a lack of attention here, but California gardeners often forget to call on it in times of need. Set out now for containers, marguerites will bloom on through summer and well into the fall. In some areas, they seem to be everywhere.

MARGUERITES are ideally suited to California, because they have a built-in resistance to drought. They are better for regular summer water, but they are the better they'll like it, which is another good point in their favor.

Nurserymen keep many other instant color plants on hand this time of year, as you can readily discover for yourself. The hydrangea, for instance, is another which gives big, showy splashes of color in June.

Hibiscus is just getting started again, though some mature plants of this tropical favorite never really go out of bloom in southern California. Fuchsias are in the initial stages of a long bloom period and may be found either as hanging basket specimens or in other containers, trained to grow upright on a trellis of lath or a center pole. Felicia, the little blue marguerite, is also a special feature this time of year. Try growing it next to yellow marguerites and/or cushion chrysanthemums for a showy combination.

There are others, too. Many of them. However the above should help you to understand that all is not lost simply because summer has arrived and caught you with little or no color to spare. It's there just for the planting at any C.A.N.

Does Dad Garden?

Gardening fathers are a rare breed. They are men who have nurtured their horticultural instincts since childhood. For when Father's Day rolls around, as soon it will, you have no doubts about what to give them. Any book, gadget or plant that nurtures their horticultural instincts will be most appreciated, thank you.

In the matter of books, you'll find that any member of the California Association of Nurserymen has plenty of them. "How to" books which will help him design a garden, or how to build a fence, plant a portable garden or landscape a patio are available.

HOBBY TYPE books which will encourage his fascination with some particular plant such as roses, orchids, african violets or what have you are there aplenty. General gardening books which help him in all phases of gardening are also to be found.

With the hobby-type books, it's always nice to include one or two plants described in the books at the same time.

There are any number of tools which come in handy—some of them major garden appliances, other merely handy gadgets. If dad has sore arms from pushing a dilapidated lawn mower around, perhaps the family can band together and chip in to buy him a new lawn mower. For the man with a manse of green to cut, nothing could be more satisfying.

AN ELECTRIC hedge clipper, which identifies plants to be cut and a pre-cast garden tool with a small circular pump attached. The latter adds that wonderful sound of running water to the garden something which satisfies man's innermost love of nature.

GARDEN POOLS can be ordered in various sizes, shapes and materials through C.A.N. members for installation in a garden setting or on a deck. Pre-cast garden pools and small circulating pumps make it possible for families to have the pleasure of running water even on an apartment deck. What more could a city-bound dad ask for on Father's Day?

Other possible items in the gadgetry line: Self-operating lawn sprinklers, spray equipment; garden lights which can make special features out of favorite garden corners at night.

Countless smaller items will come to mind when you visit a nursery. A new pair of gloves to replace those which are dirt-encrusted they stand up by themselves; a new hand trowel to replace the old one now rusted and worn; a canvas soaker for more effective watering of sloping lawns; a new spray nozzle for the hose... all these can be much appreciated items with dads who need them.

GIVING A PLANT on Father's Day is easier than giving one on Mother's Day for you need not be concerned with giving one in bloom. A woman likes something in bloom so she can use it first to decorate the house, but for dad, the first choice is a favorite plant whether it's in bloom or not. If it fits his need in the garden, it need not even bloom at all—ever.

Appropriately, you can give a flatful of annuals for his flower beds or a flatful of lettuce seedlings for his vegetable garden. You can give a blooming rose in a container or a tub full of bamboo which never will bloom. You can give him an orchid to add to his collection or a few cans of dwarf juniper to add to the beauty of a front walk.

Just remember to give something useful or something which you know he likes to putter with and you can't go wrong.

New 'Phone Prefix Set In Concord

New telephone customers in Concord began receiving a new phone prefix, 689, recently, according to Howard Greenhalgh, local manager for Pacific Telephone and Telegraph.

The project which will be completed in early fall at a cost of $650,000 will provide an additional 4000 telephone numbers for growth in the community.

The expenditure is part of Pacific Telephone's $3,150,000 construction program in Contra Costa County this year, Greenhalgh said.

Winners of the spring show can be viewed at Pillsbury's Stationers.

DVC Has Natural Science Course

A natural science workshop every Saturday. There are no fees.

The faculty will consist of two DVC instructors, Ferdinand S. Ruth, biological science, and Donald Protzman, geology, and Robert Campbell, Miramonte High School science instructor, who will handle the astronomy phase of the workshop.

Designed primarily for leaders of youth groups such as the Campfire Girls, Boy Scouts, and the like, the workshop will be held over a period of five weeks. Instruction will cover the areas of Biology, geology, and astronomy by means of lectures, field trips, laboratory experiments and use of DVC's planetarium and telescope.

The workshop, dealing with the practical rather than the theoretical, will emphasize things in which youth leaders can interest their young charges.

CLASSES, limited to 25 persons, will be conducted from 7 to 10 p.m. every Monday and Wednesday, with field trips scheduled from 8 a.m. until noon.

Sight-Saving Clinic Sunday

A "sight-saving clinic" will be held in the Village Elementary School Auditorium Sunday in Pittsburg.

Open to residents of the county and beyond, the clinic includes free examination from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Appointments are not necessary.

Silverman Named First Editor of Week on Program

Sun Editor-Publisher Herman Silverman will inaugurate a new "Editor of the Week" feature on K-WUN Radio Monday.

Silverman has been selected as the first Contra Costa editor to appear on the new feature in which editors from throughout the county will appear with Maggie Tuggles on her "Kontra Kosta Kaffe Klatsch."

"Newspapers have always stood as critics of radio and television," Mrs. Tuggles noted yesterday. It's time radio, at least, interested itself in the actions and programs of the local press.

The program begins at 10 a.m. Among topics the program will regularly feature is the growing influence of the local newspaper as opposed to that of the metropolitan giants.

"MORE AND MORE," the radio personality observed, "local newspapers are becoming the voice of the community while the metropolitan dailies devote themselves largely to national and international issues."

In this regard, she said, Silverman's appearance as the "inaugural editor" on the series was appropriate.

"I asked Mr. Silverman to appear first because he is one of the most colorful editorial personalities in our area."

She also said she had always admired the way in which the editor "will swim against the popular current."

"HE'LL TAKE a lot of criticism and still stick to his guns on important issues," Mrs. Tuggles said.

Among areas she hopes to discuss with The Sun's editor-publisher are redistricting of supervisorial districts and his own views on the course of education in the county and state.

Local Organist Guild Elects New Officers

William T. Stone of Walnut Creek is the newly elected dean of the Contra Costa Chapter of the American Guild of Organists.

Sub-dean for the 1963-64 season will be Donald F. Hartsell of Concord. Installation was held at the annual dinner meeting in the Danville Hotel.

Stone, a full-time musician, is organist and choirmaster at St. Paul's Episcopal Church in Walnut Creek, and organist at Temple Sinai in Oakland. He teaches organ and piano privately.

Hartsell is minister of music, organist and choirmaster at the Orinda Community Church.

Other officers are Lavonne Roden of Danville, registrar; Myla Austin of Concord, secretary, and Marvin Workinger of Pleasant Hill, treasurer.

The executive board will be composed of Phyllis Schell, Walnut Creek; Crystal Albreck, Lafayette; Genevieve Boreen, Concord; Dawn Davis, Concord; and Richard Davis, Walnut Creek.

School Board Hassle Ironed Out by State

The big county board of education mix-up has been resolved by a state legislative counsel, ruling that four board members will serve an extra year of their terms.

Election of four new members scheduled originally for last April, will be held in June, 1964, according to Harold De Fraga, associate superintendent of schools. He received the ruling last week.

Two of the four members had opponents in the April elections. The election was postponed originally by District Attorney John A. Nejedly, who advised that county board members can only be elected simultaneously with school trustees from each school district in the county—or during a primary election.

Nejedly said he felt the election would be illegal because trustees had already been elected in Alhambra Union High School, Martinez Elementary and Vine Hill Elementary districts.

The three districts had held their election following a unification merger.

Members whose county board terms were to have expired include Mrs. Betty Kipp, El Cerrito; Elvo Travallini, El Sobrante; P. B. Williamson, Concord; and Mrs. Lucille Mauzy, Walnut Creek.

Planetarium Show Is Being Held at DVC

The "Summer Sky," a close-up of prominent stars and famous constellations visible in the heavens during June is being shown at the Diablo Valley College science center planetarium this month.

James S. Byrne, the center's museum curator, reports that two showings are given every Saturday afternoon, the first at 1:30 p.m. for youth groups by reservation, and the second at 3 p.m. for the general public. There is no admission charge.

'FOR THE BIRDS'

By BARBARA BEDAYN 254-4992

This is the season of baby birds. Two tiny black nestlings, the size of bumblebees, cuddle in the Allen Hummer's soft, cobwebby cup. So far they've escaped the beady black eyes of the Scrub Jay who is looking for hamburger for his now almost fully grown young in the bulky nest in the Douglas Fir.

We watch the hummer babies from the corner of the eye, as we pass the wiseteria vine where the dainty, walnut-sized nest is hidden. Many a time a curious blue jay has followed a human nest-admirer with his own investigation, and there was the end to pearly egg or tiny nestling.

The House Wren, with her brood almost ready to leave the rustic cottage on a high oak branch, explodes into a scolding tirade 50 times a day as the grocery shopping jay peers hopefully into the small doorway, hoping for a wren entree to take home.

"Help! Help! Police! Get out, thief! Scoundrel! Murderer!" shrieks the little when, jerking her perky tail to emphasize each epithet. Satisfied at last that he can't reach the meat at this counter, the jay hops down to the scattered bread crumbs on the feeder while we ponder on how many baby birds that well-stocked feeder has saved.

"Mew, me-w," sounds from the willows early and late, as the Blackheaded Grosbeak young pursue their bug hunting parents. It's a common sound in Yosemite, at Tahoe, Mt. Shasta, Sequoia and other vacation spots this summer. Most baby birds squeak, but the young Blackheaded Grosbeak mew for attention. The number of insects stuffed into each fat bill by the hard working parents is astronomical. No wonder the babies are plumper than the parents.

Who is this frowsy fellow, top-knot asked, bouncing into the coconut feeder and out in one frenzied swoosh? It's hard to recognize the sleek little grey titmouse of early spring who practiced his wide repertoire of calls in our dooryard, but here he is, too busy for more than a splutter. His four fat babies are lined up on a live oak twig, all together for the moment and each calling pitifully, "Starved, starved, starved."

Ma and Pa Titmouse have the system now: into the feeder, back to the twig, "Starved, starved." Into the feeder, back to the fluffy four: "Hurry, hurry, we're starved." Their squeaks would be more pathetic if we couldn't see how they bulged!

This is the bird pattern for mid-June: fat fledgling, panting parents!

Shades of Miss Margaret Mead --A PHT Degree

When Miss Margaret Mead, world famed anthropologist, spoke recently in the county, she told of the new phenomenon in our society: the girl who puts her husband through college.

As proof positive of this, this week The Sun received the following news release from San Luis Obispo:

Barbara Jensen Capra of Lafayette was among 125 wives receiving their PHT (Pushing Hubby Through) degrees at California State Polytechnic College Sunday.

Traditionally, the wives of Cal Poly graduates go through a graduation ceremony and receive a PHT diploma which verifies the fact that she has "completed the major project of badgering, admiring, overseeing, praising . . . and otherwise aiding and assisting her husband to complete the requirements for a baccalaureate degree from this college."

Her husband, Raymond Louis Capra, received his degree in electrical engineering last December.

He was a member of Poly Phase Engineering Club and Tau Sigma, honorary engineering fraternity.

Mrs. Capra is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George N. Jensen. Capra is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis P. Capra. All are residents of Lafayette.

His future plans include doing graduate work at the University of California, Berkeley.

KAREN EMERSON

Troth Told by The Emersons

Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Emerson of Oakland recently announced the engagement of their daughter, Karen, to Leamon Thomas Pulley, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Leamon T. Pulley of Downey, California.

Karen is a 1959 graduate of Acalanes High School, a June graduate of the University of California at Davis in home economics, member of California Club, Omicron Nu, Prytanian, Phi Kappa Phi and Phi Beta Kappa honor societies.

She has a twin sister, Susan, who is a June graduate of U.C. in dental hygiene, and a brother, Elton J., who is in the U.S. Navy at Groton, Connecticut.

Tom will be a senior in the School of Veterinary Medicine, University of California at Davis.

An August 31 wedding is being planned.

Mrs. Gleim will assume her new post on July 1, and will hold office for two years. Her official duties will include laying plans for future province conventions and the biennial national convention, coordinating, advising, and visiting seven chapters in the province.

Mrs. Gleim has served as ways and means chairman, treasurer, vice president, and from 1960-62, president of the East Bay Kappa Kappa Gamma Alumnae Association.

She is currently president of the advisory board to the University of California chapter at Berkeley.

The convention, attended by both province and national officers, awarded two scholarships from the Ruth Stevens Huckle Memorial Fund to girls from the Berkeley and San Jose chapters.

Hall Closet Director Is Back

Home again at 2092 Galindo Street, Concord, after enjoying a visit with relatives in North Carolina for nearly two months is Blanche C. Johnston, director of the Hall Closet for Contra Costa Juvenile Hall Auxiliary.

Mrs. Johnston, for the first time in nearly five years visited with her five sisters and a brother and their families in the cities of Greenville and Washington, N. C.

While she was in Greenville, the townsfolk commemorated their Memorial Day on May 10, and in true Southern tradition. Confederate flags were displayed the full length of the town's main street (along with American flags, Mrs. Johnston notes). "A gesture which shows that the Civil War is still present in the mind and heart of the South."

Just before her return to Concord, her husband Sam underwent surgery at a Martinez hospital, but is now recuperating nicely at home, Mrs. Johnston says.

The Hall Closet which she directs is a continuing project of the Lollipop Unit of Juvenile Hall Auxiliary. It is a thrift shop which features articles in good repair and unusual items.

All proceeds (nearly $10,000 since 1960) are given by the Lollipopers to benefit the underprivileged and delinquent youngsters at Contra Costa Juvenile Hall.

Mrs. Otto C. Friedrich of Pleasant Hill is Lollipop president.

The shop, located at 2061 Mt. Diablo Street in Concord, is again accepting donations and is open for business each Tuesday from noon to 4:30, and all day Wednesday through Saturday.

Sally's Troth Surprises

Streamers imprinted "Sally" and "John" flowing from a wicker cage of "lovebirds" surprised friends who gathered at a reception in Orinda, Saturday evening. They had thought they were attending a party solely to honor an old college friend of the hostess, Sally Holabird.

Her betrothal to John Douglas Maschino, a fellow student at the University of California, Berkeley, as told by Sally's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Evans (Ben) Holabird.

"Decoy" was Sally's house guest, Diane Grosjean, who is here from her home in Bedford Village, New York. Diana and Sally were former roommates at Bradford Junior College in Bradford, Mass.

Diane is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Grosjean (Emmen Davies) and a granddaughter of the late Joseph E. Davies, ambassador to Russia, who wrote "Mission to Moscow."

Yellow and white stock and daisies were in profusion at the Holabirds' Vida Desconsada home for the soiree with a dual purpose.

The birdcage arrangement was in the garden, circled by a wreath of ivy with yellow and white daisies afloat in the pool. Guests included Sally's young college friends, mostly from U.C. where she is affiliated with Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority. The guest of honor was graduated from Bradford last week.

Many of the affianced pair's friends were surprised by the news of their engagement. No date has been set for the wedding.

John is enrolled at the U.C. school of architecture. The future benedict is a member of Delta Tau Delta fraternity.

Sally has one sister, Mrs. Donald Whitman Poole, Jr. (Carol Holabird) of New York City. Mr. and Mrs. Poole leave, by the way, on the Queen Mary, July 17, for the summer in Europe.

The future bride's paternal grandmother is Mrs. Harry Gillette Holabird of Pasadena. She has two paternal uncles who also live in Pasadena who are William G. Holabird and Timothy M. Holabird.

On her maternal side she is the granddaughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Putnam Nye of Covina. Her maternal uncles are Ralph Nye of Covina, Carroll Nye of Sherman Oaks and Col. Wilbur S. Nye of Wormleysburg, Pa.

John is son of Mrs. Alma Maschino of Los Angeles and John A. Maschino of Orange County. His brother and sister are Larry and Dianne Maschino of Los Angeles.

On his maternal side he is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Robinett of Flint, Mich., and from the same city on his paternal side, of Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Maschino.

Kyla Is Lovely Bride

Orinda's Shepherd of the Valley Lutheran Church was the setting recently for the wedding rites of Kyla Celeste Houston and William Mitchell Medigovich. The Rev. Albert Hidy performed the 2 p.m. service.

Kyla is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Houston, 1 Robert Road, Orinda.

She is a graduate of Acalanes High School, the University of California and U.C. School of Nursing. Her affiliations while on campus included: Alpha Phi, Cal Club, Oski Dolls and president of the nursing student body, 1960-61.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell V. Medigovich of Marysville. He attended Yuba City College and San Francisco State.

Kyla's wedding gown was a Bianchi original of ivory peau de soie. It was full length with a cathedral train. Tiny seed pearls adorned the scoop neckline and scalloped three-quarter sleeves.

A crown of peau de soie petals and seed pearls attached to a Dior bow held an elbow length "petaled" veil.

For "something old," Kyla wore a bracelet of woven gold strands belonging to her great-grandmother. She was the fourth generation to wear the bracelet on her wedding day.

The bridal bouquet was a cascade of ivory tulips and lily-of-the-valley and forget-me-not.

Connie Ayotte of Portland, Oregon, was maid of honor. Attendants were Barbara Candau, Woodland, and Myrleen Fisher, Salinas.

Ring bearer was Bobby Mitrovich, San Diego, the groom's nephew.

Best man was Robert Grous, Garden Grove. Ushers were Gregory Ochoa, Ventura, and William Houston, the bride's brother.

A reception at Diablo Country Club followed the church service.

Honeymoon destination for the just-weds was Big Sur and Carmel. They will make their first home in Monterey while the groom completes his studies at the Army language school of Russian.

Vaccine Urged: WC Woman Dies Of Diphtheria

The recent death of an elderly Walnut Creek woman due to diphtheria should serve as a "grim reminder that contagious disease can still cause tragedy among us," the county health officer announced this week. "It is not known whether this person was ever immunized," said Dr. John H. Baier, M.D., assistant county health officer. He said that most of the persons in close contact with the woman have been immunized and no secondary cases have yet appeared. Baier took the occasion to urge residents to keep their immunizations for all contagious diseases—polio, tetanus, smallpox and typhoid fever—up to date to prevent such tragedy. "The occurrence of preventable disease of any kind is a needless, costly tragedy," the doctor said. He reminded residents that some immunizations are available through county clinics which are held frequently throughout the county. This newspaper prints notices of such clinics when they are held in the central county area.

Liberty is the only thing you cannot have unless you are willing to give it to others.

THERE IS A NEW LOOK and NEW LOW RATES IN WANT ADS

Walnut Creek Sun ORINDA SUN Lafayette Sun Pleasant Hill Sun
AND

Sun Shopping News

The Classified Section (Want Ads to most of us) in the 4 Sun Newspapers and The Sun Shopping News has been redesigned to make it more interesting and more useable for readers and advertisers.

There are new headings or classifications, grouped together for similar goods and services on the Want Ad pages of the Sun Shopping News and 4 Sun Newspapers. There are new rates, too, designed to help every advertiser get more for what he spends by allowing more complete descriptions.

EASY to Find

With the revised chart on classifications, ads are easier to find. This index-chart (see below) will often be printed in the 4 Sun Newspapers and the Sun Shopping News. It will guide you to the particular goods or services in which you are interested.

EASY to Read

Because Want Ads in the 5 Sun papers are not priced by the word, but by groups of words, advertisers will be able to describe their goods more completely. Better description will make their ads more readable—even more successful.

Easy to Use

Advertisers will find Want Ads in the 4 Suns and Sun Shopping News are easier to use than in the past. Note on the rate card below that not only are the "words" packaged but the "number of times" are also packaged. Your ad can run 3 or 4 times for very little more, and, of course, you can cancel as soon as you get results.

SINGER OPENS IN CONCORD—Store manager Roy James (left) and assistant Len Hunt work over window display at the recently opened Singer Sewing Center at the Concord Park Shop.

Orindan Makes 83-Yard Gain Like a Flash

Nylon carpets—83 square yards of them—were sold with a single Sun want ad by R. T. Jorgensen of Orinda recently.

And J. H. Gillan, 218 Poshard Street, Pleasant Hill, used just one Sun want ad to sell a Lawson sofa, studio couch, mattress and springs.

Each Sun want ad appears in all five Sun publications: The 59,000-circulation Sun Shopping News; and the four Sun subscription newspapers, The Lafayette Sun, The Pleasant Hill Sun, The Orinda Sun, and The Walnut Creek Sun.

A single 14-word ad costs as little as $3.00 for a four-week run—with a pro-rated rebate when you sell right away!

Call a Sun ad writer at 934-5000 or 284-4444 today for quick results.

'Silverfish, Stay Way from Our Closets!'

Do silverfish damage clothes? Yes, they eat the paper used in packing, and if there are rayon or stretched clothing in the boxes, books, old rolls of wallpaper, or magazines, they'll eat them, too. They may damage upholstery and floor coverings, too.

To prevent silverfish, U. S. Department of Agriculture entomologists suggest spraying with a two per cent chlordane solution. Spray not only the boxes used for storage, but shelves, crevices, or other hiding places.

If silverfish are a problem elsewhere in your house, apply chlordane with a paintbrush whenever you see them.

Be sure to read and follow all instructions given on the label on the chlordane container.

Mary Nissen Resigns Co. School Post

Before the end of the summer, Contra Costa County School Department will employ a staff member specializing in junior high and high school education, as successor to Mrs. Mary Louise Nissen, who has resigned because of ill health.

She had been with the department for 16 years, serving most recently as a consultant in foreign languages.

Dr. Frank G. Burke, assistant county superintendent of educational services, will receive applications at the county superintendent's office in Pleasant Hill until June 28.

A screening committee of county staff members and representatives of school districts will assist with the selection. The position will be filled effective August 1.

The new position calls for a "generalist" in secondary school curriculum, who will assist in present progress in mathematics, science, foreign language, etc., and with the development of new curricula and provide leadership in local secondary education.

"In addition to performing outstanding work in foreign language teaching methods, Mrs. Nissen acted as consultant to homemaking, economic education and English teachers and as guidance consultant to Juvenile Hall School and the school at Contra Costa County Boys Rehabilitation Center," Dr. Burke said.

"Mrs. Nissen played a leading role in establishing the pupil personnel credential as it now applies in California," the assistant superintendent added.

With her husband, Ted, a retired employee of the Martinez refinery of the Shell Oil Company, Mrs. Nissen is now touring Europe by automobile. They will return in the fall to their home in Oakland.

No Summer Halt To Blind Work

The Lions Blind Recreation Center, 3834 Opal Street, Oakland, will remain open throughout the summer, Lafayette Lion Charles "Mickey" Meyers said yesterday.

He is a member of the Alameda-Contra Costa Lions Central Committee for the blind.

Regular classes, however, won't be resumed at the center until Sept. 16.

One out of every four high schools in the U. S. has a stage band.

Dr. L. Meadow Aids Workshop

Dr. Lloyd Meadow, associate professor in the Department of Special Education and Rehabilitation Counseling at San Francisco State College, will serve as volunteer consultant for the Easter Seal Rehabilitation Workshop on Contra Costa County, according to an announcement from Mrs. Ardis V. Loonie, executive director of the county Easter Seal Society for Crippled Children and Adults.

Dr. Meadow is a resident of Kensington.

Mal Cameron Wins Award

Malcolm Cameron, student body president of Del Valle High School, has been selected by Walnut Creek Savings and Loan Association to receive a cash award and a bronze medallion with his name engraved on it.

This award is sponsored throughout California by various Savings and Loan Associations.

Walnut Creek Savings and Loan Association has been appointed to sponsor this award for Del Valle High School's outstanding student.

Broadway's June Jamboree Begins

Wacky bargains galore are we had last year, featuring spectacular items at absurd prices—plus the regular array of high quality merchandise made available at quantity-buying prices," Webster said. And, he predicted, even more of the "wacky" bargains will be offered than in the past. ADVERTISING campaigns initiated this week are expected to draw customers from the entire central, south and east county areas for the three-day event, the chairman said.

Hundreds of parking spaces are provided to accommodate shoppers throughout the center. "We feel strongly that sales like these remind shoppers that Broadway provides more value and quality in one place than any other retail operation in the area," Webster said.

The reason for this attraction, he explained, is that the center is comprised of many different and yet complimentary retail operations, ranging from nurseries to beauty salons, food stores to toy shops, restaurants to high fashion houses.

"AND ALL are subject to the center's established reputation for quality, courtesy and value," he continued.

The chairman cited recent conclusion of agreements with several stores which will spend millions of dollars to join other Broadway merchants as proof of the center's preferred position with customers in Contra Costa.

"With Roos/Atkins coming in, Grodins of California expanding, Leeds Shoes erecting a store and several other merchants participating in the $6 million expansion of the center, there can be little doubt that discriminating shoppers know where to turn for the best in retail values," he said.

Apt. Owners Hold Confab

Local apartment owners and managers attended the Contra Costa Board of Realtors' "Apartment Owners Conference," June 6 at the board's auditorium.

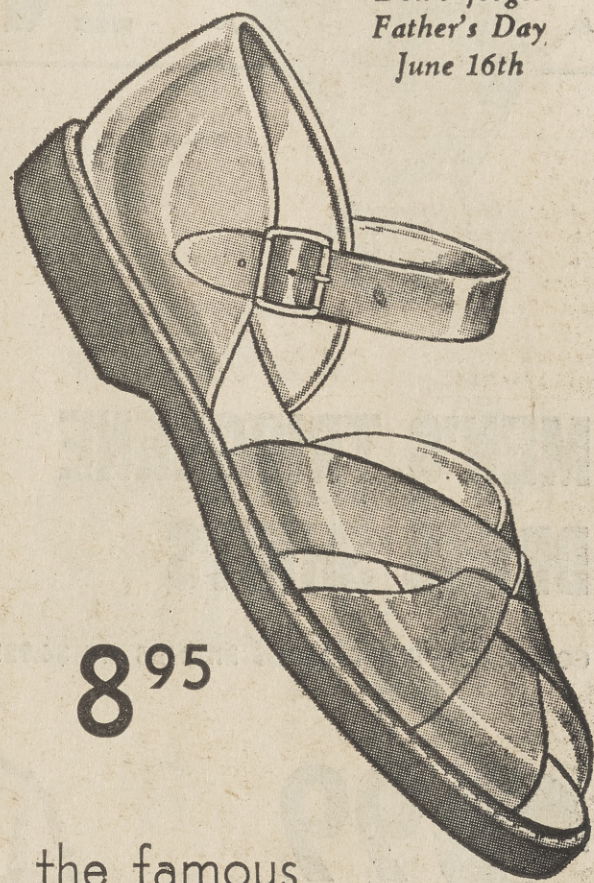

Tes Giannugnan, president of National Apartment Owners Association and Robert Snell, president of the California Apartment Owners Association, were the guest speakers.

"Presented by the Commercial Multiple Listing Service Division of the real estate board as a public service, the program was designed to help the local apartment owners and managers on principles and practices of successful income property," reported Ron Nelson, coordinator of the conference.

"We feel sure that many of the problems of the owners and managers were answered through out presentation and the question and answer period which followed."

Got Greatest Dad in The World?—Win Trip

It's not too late to tell us why your Dad's the "greatest Dad in the world"—and win a free round trip to Los Angeles for doing so.

The Sun Father of the Year Contest has already attracted many responses—many of them front-runners for the top prize.

But if you get your entry in by midnight Saturday, the top Father's Day gift stores in central Contra Costa may send you and the Grand Old Man on a flying jaunt to Los Angeles—and some Disneyland tickets.

Hank Weiss, administrative assistant in the Acalanes Union High School District office, will serve as judge of the contest. Here are the simple rules:

1. COUPONS for the contest appear in this edition of The Sun Shopping News or can be obtained from any one of the following stores:

Smith's (in Broadway Shopping Center, Walnut Creek, or in Concord Park and Shop); Grodin's, J. C. Penney's, Capwell's (all in Broadway Shopping Center, Walnut Creek); The Candlelight (Newell Center, Walnut Creek); Consumer's Buying Service (Concord); Gino's of Orinda; Jim Sherry's, Sutton's Shoe Store (Lafayette); and Grande's Shoes, Broadway Shopping Center, Walnut Creek.

2. Any person up to and including 16 years of age may enter.

3. Complete the phrase on the coupon, "I have the greatest dad in the world because . . ." in 35 words or less.

4. SEND OR BRING the completed coupon to The Sun (1001 Oakhill Road, Lafayette, or 1320 Locust Street, Walnut Creek) prior to Father's Day, June 16, 1963.

Nursing Class Places in State

Diablo Valley College's January class of vocational nurses ranked highest in California in state licensing examinations. Mrs. Susanne E. Malone, DVC instructor, reported yesterday.

The 12 class members—a 13th was ill and unable to take the examination given last March—achieved a phenomenal average score of 617.66, as compared to a statewide average of 525.29, according to the State Department of Professional and Vocational Standards and its board of vocational nurse examiners.

GRADUATES from 29 nursing schools and colleges took the examination.

DVC's three - semester, 18-month program—it had been compressed into 12 months by utilizing a summer session—

5. Letters containing coupons must be postmarked no later than midnight, June 15, 1963.

6. In case of duplicate entry, the entry bearing the earlier date mark will be adjudged the winner. Entries will be judged on aptness of thought, originality, and age of entrant.

The grand prize in the contest is two round-trip air fares to Los Angeles via Trans California Airlines, plus tickets to Disneyland.

And—if the winner is a subscriber to The Walnut Creek Sun, The Orinda, The Pleasant Hill Sun or The Lafayette Sun he or she will be awarded two extra air fares to Los Angeles.

LOOK BACK Always look back before back-ing, advises National Automobile Club.

Broadway's June Jamboree Is on

A June Jamboree of values continues at Walnut Creek's Broadway Shopping Center through tomorrow as thousands of central county shoppers sample the famous "wacky" bargains of the big sales event.

Broadway Merchants Association Chairman George Webster said today that the sale features spectacular items at absurd prices—plus the regular array of top quality merchandise in all of the center's stores.

Hundreds of parking spaces are available to accommodate the shopper, the chairman indicated.

"The sale, a repeat of similar promotions during the past year, will be spiced up with even more of the wacky bargains which have attracted thousands of customers in the past," Webster said.

Interested in Journalism? You Can Help

In addition to several requests for "writers", the bureau has dozens of volunteer jobs that offer you a chance to be truly helpful to others.

Remember how much fun it was working on your school paper?

Or perhaps putting out the PTA bulletin gave you the feeling of a job well-done? All this can be yours again. . . . Mental Health Association needs an editor for its monthly newsletter.

Put your creative talents to work for the good of your community. You don't need a journalism degree; just a flair for writing, editing and lay-out can be your ticket to personal satisfaction.

The Volunteer Bureau, a United Bay Area Crusade Agency, is located at 2363 Boulevard Circle, Walnut Creek. Come in or call 934-0424 to find a spot for your talent.

Happy Valley Inn Dances Are Set

Lafayette's junior night club, the Happy Valley Inn, stages its "end of school" dance parties Friday and Saturday nights.

A second generation celebrity takes over at the teen age night club Friday night when Johnny Draper's "Hi-Liters" provide the dance music.

Johnny, a Concord resident, is the son of famed Rusty Draper, western ballad star.

Young Draper's combo is climbing to heights with the teen age dance crowd.

The Saturday night dance will feature "The Picnics" who have just completed a long engagement at the Shamrock in San Francisco.

Sam Johnston, general manager, said that Wednesday night dancing will be added during the summer months.

Alert Medics, Dentists to Cancer Work

Working quietly behind the scenes, 10 volunteer members of the American Cancer Society's professional education committee in Contra Costa County are doing much to keep the county's physician and dentists alert to new developments in cancer research, spokesmen revealed yesterday.

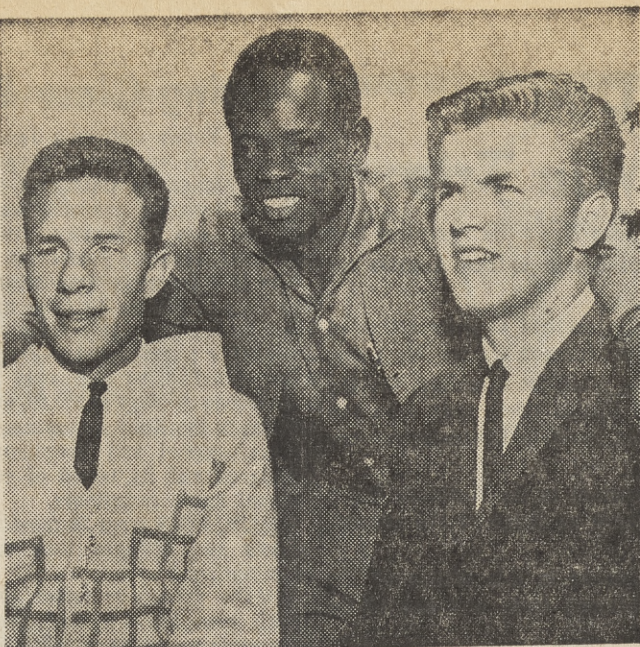

As possible aids to diagnosis latest scientific findings published each month are dispatched regularly to all doctors and dentists in the county by the committee led by Dr. George N. Weston of Walnut Creek.

The committee meets the last Wednesday evening of each month at cancer society offices in Walnut Creek to evaluate new material which might prove of help for doctors and dentists who are in the prime position of diagnosing cancer early.

Representing a number of different medical specialties, additional members of the volunteer committee thus serving in 1963-64 are:

Dr. William M. Bogart and Nurse Margaret Caldera, both of Concord; Dr. W. J. Eldred and Dr. John M. Kaufman of Pleasant Hill; Pharmacist William T. McGregor of Alamo.

Dentists Dr. Charles A. Evans and Bill J. Harris and Physicians Dr. Dudley A. Robnett of Walnut Creek, and Dr. Kleona Rigney of the Contra Costa County Health Department in Martinez.

Welfare Cost Hike Foreseen

Dr. Henrik L. Blum, county health officer, and Mrs. Robert T. Adams of Lafayette have been elected to the board of directors of the Bay Area Welfare Planning Federation.

They and other citizen community planners were warned Tuesday that "America's historic devotion to bigger and better health and welfare institutions may well lead to a real rise in expenditures for these services."

The warning came from Israel Smith of the United Bay Area Crusade.

Sitters for Handicapped Kids Trained

The recent certification of 10 teenagers and one adult as full-fledged baby sitter-monitors for handicapped children adds up to a total of 81 Contra Costa volunteers who have been especially trained in a course for baby sitters arranged by the Easter Seal Society for Crippled Children and Adults of Contra Costa County.

"Graduation" was held for the neophytes following a four-week training course held at Walnut Creek Community Church, under the direction of their teacher, Mrs. Alan Young, honored the graduates with a luncheon.

Central Contra Costans now certified baby sitter-monitors for handicapped children and young persons are Karen Jones and Rhonda Curtis of Concord; Susan Abbey and Kathie Frost of Pleasant Hill; Debbie Fink of Lafayette; Laurel Olsen, Mary Ann Montgomery, Sue Christensen, Mary Beth Boswick, Carol Furman and Mrs. Lorna Furman of Walnut Creek.

All monitors have agreed to volunteer one baby sitting session each month, according to Sue Christensen, teen-age coordinator.

She urged parents who wish the service to contact Easter Seal headquarters, 240 South Sixth Street, Richmond, for application and medical form to be signed by the child's physician.

50 Experts to Give Capwell's Demonstrations

Capwell's - Walnut Creek will be presenting a "Meet the Experts" extravaganza with many varieties of demonstrations and fashion shows Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Over 60 demonstrations will be taking place in the third day period with over 50 experts demonstrating and answering questions of their various subjects: household and beauty secrets, hobbies, fashion, and many other displays for both young and old.

PERHAPS THE most interesting public appearance will occur Friday at 7:30 in the evening when the famous local authoress Patsy Gray of Walnut Creek will autograph two of her latest books in the book department on the street floor.

In "Show Ring Rogue" and "The Horse Trap" she writes about horses from her long experience with them. Patsy and her family live and breed horses on their sprawling ranch in Walnut Creek.

AN INFORMAL fashion show will take place Saturday in the casual dresses department on the second floor, from 1 to 4 p.m. Two of the Bay Area's loveliest professional models, Sharon Knox and Shirley Patton, will model travel wonders styled by Sacony — new styles perfect for vacation or town wear, such as the print sheath style of a two-piece print of 100 per cent Arnel Triactate jersey.

At the fashion show there will be a drawing for the prize of one of the advertised items of Sacony jersey. Some lucky customer will walk away with a twenty dollar Sacony creation. Other informal modeling will be held on Capwell's second floor Saturday. Modeling will be graduates of Capwell's Spring charm school. This modeling will be done in the collegienne and teen departments, Merritt Dresses, Spectator Sportswear and Active Sportswear departments from 1 to 4 p.m.

Charm school girls to be featured will be Carol Morrow of Del Valle High in the collegienne department, Randi Allred from Las Lomas High in the teen department, Maureen Cohn of Miramonte in Merritt dresses, Sue Voortmeyer of Del Valle in Active Sportswear and Ruta Hagman from Miramonte in the Spectator Sportswear department, all on the second floor.

ONE OF THE most colorful demonstrations in the three day event will take place in the art gifts department, third floor. Kay Cathcart will appear again by customer request in a display of custom designing and flower and foliage arranging with simulated flowers gathered from many countries. She will arrange flowers personally for customers with no charge for her services. She will be arranging on Thursday from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., Friday from 1 to 9 p.m. and Saturday, 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. This is an event that should not be missed.

ANOTHER EXHIBIT for the "Meet the Experts" period is the amazing useful idea that's swept the country just recently — the Dymo Labelmaker. Verlie Matson will be available to show this machine's versatility in the stationery department, street floor, from 1 to 3 p.m. and again from 7 to 9 p.m. on Thursday and Friday, and noon to 4 p.m. on Saturday.

This revolutionary article is a natural for any sort of labeling sporting goods, toys, records, home files and many other personal belongings, and of very low price.

In the fur department, second floor, various skins will be displayed (from rough skins to the finished garment). How they are worked will be part of this show. This demonstration will have as its guest Nick Billardello, Capwell's fur buyer. He will be available to answer whatever questions a customer might have Thursday from 10 a.m. to noon.

Miss Polaroid will be in Capwell's Saturday where customers can have their picture taken by her, free of charge. She will be snapping on the street floor from 1 to 4 p.m. near the camera department.

ANOTHER demonstration which Capwell customers are always asking for will take place in the stationery department on the street floor Saturday only from 2 to 4 p.m. It's the always popular tie-tie gift wrapping demonstration with Doris Howie. She will be showing gift wrapping magic.

DURING THE TIME of the "Meet the Experts" show there will be a Houbigant promotion in the Cosmetics department at Capwell's. With every purchase of a Houbigant product the customer will be entitled to a free $3 jar of the amazing new Chantilly perfume skin cream which has been said to have longer lasting effectiveness than liquid perfume of this type.

Handing out the invitations for Houbigant will be another pretty graduate of Capwell's Spring Charm School.
